MADRID, April 13.—(AP)—Count Romanones, minister of state, announced tonight that the entire Spanish cabinet will resign tomorrow morning as the result of republican elections in yesterday's municipal elections, and that Juan de la Cierva, present minister of public works, will tempt to form a new conservativemonarchist cabinet.

The trend of popular reaction to the public triumph was graphically illustrated in the tone of a manifesto issued this evening by the executive committee of the socialist labor party, one of the units which shared in the victory at the polls:

"After the smashing victory of our side in the Sunday election," the manifesto read, "we will oppose strenuously any attempt to delay or prevent the realization of the will of the people."

The uncompromising declaration was taken as an indication that the socialists are ready to fight any effort to hinder the establishment of a republic in Spain.

The announcement of the resignation followed a lengthy debate among members of Premier Aznar's cabinet to the advisability of remaining in office. Count de Romanones said the cabinet will resign tomorrow.

News of the impending cabinet resignation got quickly about and late night the wildly cheering crowds became so unruly that police unlimbered their rifles and fired their revolvers to the air.

Windows in buildings downtown were shattered by the crowd as a pre-luditory measure.

Fully 6,000 men were marching rough the downtown streets carrying banners and cheering the republic.
The excitement was increased as a mob spread that the king had abdicated.

Police were under orders to avoid violence and until the crowd became unruly they had kept the marchers moving by slapping them on the backs and laughing with them. They did not begin firing until the mob began to throw stones and other objects.

Gaston Martin, minister of education, supplemented the announcement of the Count of Romanones, said:
"The government is not trying to flee from the people's feeling that this is a situation of extraordinary activity. In this difficult moment it is considering whether Spain should be a monarchy or a republic. It is seeking only the salvation of the nation."

"Salvation lies in maintaining order and order is the king," he said.
He said Premier Aznar would carry out the king's decision to the letter and that there would be a special meeting of the cabinet tonight.

Romanones, explaining that the cabinet would be advised to form a new ministry of conservatives under De la Cierva, described that minister as "an old man of great strength and energy who knows when and how to use force."
He denied rumors that the king intended to abdicate and said Alfonso has no reason to leave Spain.

Before he went away, visibly affected, he said:

Baseball Season on Today; Crackers Battle Lookouts

Washington and Philadelphia Game Holds Spotlight in North as Curtain Rises.

By Ed Danforth.

No escaping it—the baseball season is upon us.

As the bats are hammering a merry tune on the gates. This afternoon in the Southern league and in the majors the gates will fall and the horde of players clad in the traditional habitiments of the ancient pastime will fall upon each other in the first games of the 1931 campaign.

And so, far into September, every day.

In the shadow of Lookout mountain on whose cloud-tipped summit a bitter battle was fought so many years ago, the Atlanta Crackers engage in a bloodless but no less bitter duel with the Lookouts. The Crackers are generally favored by experts to win the Southern league pennant this year.

The home club plays another game today. Yesterday, then returns to St. Louis to launch the season all over again with the Lookouts again as opponents.

Memphis and Little Rock are lit-ting the cover at Memphis. New Orleans is at Mobile for the inauguration; Birmingham is at Nashville.
These clubs will play return games in the home lots of their opponents before the week is over and the 31st year of the Sunland organization will have been officially launched.

While the Crackers have been rated favorites on the apparent strength of the squad assembled by Manager Johnny Dobbs, stern opposition is expected to be met in obtaining a new constitution. Two hundred members were registered today for the convention.

"One of the things you will please do," he said, "is to help stop this business of trying to start a new university in every county in the state of Georgia." Dr. Brittain referred to what he called "our so-called little colleges," of which he said there are 26 in the state. He said more attention should be given "real colleges."

Dr. Brittain said the plan of education now in effect was born during reconstruction days.

The health, welfare and education of the children of Georgia are being considered by the delegates, who represent an association with a paid membership of 44,110. Principal speakers were Lawton B. Evans, superintendent of Richmond county schools;
Dr. Ada Hart Arlt, national chairman of parent education, and Dr. M.
L. Brittain, Atlanta.

At a meeting of the executive board at the Hotel Lanier this morning three delegates to the convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Hot Springs, Ark., the first week of next month were elected.
They were Mrs. P. G. Hanaahan, Mrs.
H. C. Parks and Mrs. Katherine Weatherbee, all of Atlanta.

Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, McDonough.

PETERSON HEADS STATE COMMITTEE ON REORGANIZING

Governor-Elect Today Will Meet With New Commission on Reforming Georgia Government.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Plans to re-organize the state government from stem to stern were launched in Atlanta Monday as the special legislative commission named by Speaker R. B. Russell, Jr., governor-elect who takes office in June, held its initial meeting and named Senator-elect Hugh Peterson, of Montgomery county, as its chairman.

Little other than organization of the committee and a conference with Philip Welner, Atlanta attorney who assisted in drawing the 1929
Ivan Allen plan of re-organization, marked the first meeting of the committee. Representative W. J. Crowe, of Worth county, was named secretary.

Today the governor-elect, whose successful campaign was pitched partly upon a platform of reorganization, is expected to meet the committee and confer with members over the future course of action. Another meeting is scheduled to be held within the next 10 days, Chairman Peterson said.

Those officials and employees serving the state from patriotic motives, Peterson said after the first day's session, "have absolutely nothing to fear, but those who have been on the pay roll from selfish motives may expect the vigorous attention of this committee."

"If they can't give legitimate reasons why they should exist, the chairman said, referring to bureau and departments generally, they should and we expect them to do so—cooperate with the committee in helping us to arrange things so that there is a legitimate reason for their existence."

Representative H. B. Edwards, of Valdosta, whose resolution early in the special session projected state department reorganization, was unable to attend the first day's meeting, but wrote that he would be here for the meeting with Governor Russell today.
He was at Waycross Monday night to deliver an address before the Georgia State Association on "What's the Matter With Georgia?"

To Hear Groups.

The committee agreed upon no definite plans for reorganization, but agreed to hear the various groups of departments, pending the arrival today of Governor-elect Russell and Representative Edwards, but tentatively decided to call them in groups. Taxation will probably be tackled first, with the commissioner of revenue, the tax commissioner, the controller general and the secretary of state appearing before the committee in the first group.

All these officials collect revenue which goes to the general treasury.
In addition, the banking department, the agricultural department and the department of fish and game also collect funds. These three divisions, while considered by the committee as belonging in the tax group, will be heard when their departments are under investigation as separate units of the government.

Members of the committee made it clear Monday that their present disposition is not to recommend the abolition of any office to which the holder had been elected or appointed until the expiration of the term for which he was named. This, in a general sense, is expected to hold good for positions of chief clerk and secretary.

It is clearly not the purpose of the committee, Representative Gus Huddleston, the member who introduced the resolution which created the committee, to remove a health men-ce.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 13.
(AP)—Complete independence of the married woman, even to filing a civil suit for damages against her husband, was upheld by the state supreme court today.

The tribunal held that state laws enacted to support federal equal suffrage had placed the married wom-

COMMITTEE TO GET SEWER PROPOSAL

It is probable that the redrafted legislative proposal for establishment of a sewer district for Atlanta will be submitted to the sewer committee of council for approval at a meeting this afternoon. Alderman Frank Roy-

Monday stated that he will request City Attorney James L. Mayson to present the paper.

Establishment of the sewer district is expected to remove a health men-

Wife, in Hollywood, De- nies She Asked Jack To Get Out; Former Cham- pion Will Open Action.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(AP)— Estelle Taylor, film actress wife of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, today announced she would resist any attempt on Dempsey's part to divorce her and declared he had "no grounds upon which to get a divorce."

Miss Taylor's statement followed a conference with her attorney, Joseph Scott, during which plans for the institution of divorce proceedings by her in Los Angeles were discussed.

"I don't believe Jack made the statement attributed to him in Reno," Miss Taylor said. "The assertions are so absurd, coming from him."

"But if he wants a fight, I will fight. I will never let him divorce me."

Miss Taylor and her attorney said they decided to hold in abeyance any action on their part in the matter of divorce proceedings until she had received "definite word" from Dempsey as to his intention.

Miss Taylor said Joe Dempsey,

MARINES ESCAPE NICARAGUAN FIGHT WITH FEW SCARS

Ambushed Platoon Fights Off Attack With Only One Man Injured; Six Civilians Said Slain.

NEW ORLEANS, April 13.—(AP)— C. A. Davis, American marine officer, attached to the national guard unit at Bluefields, Nicaragua, in a Tropical Radio dispatch to the Associated Press here tonight telling of the battle of the marines with armed bandits in Nicaragua, reported that Lieutenant Clyde Roy Darrah, for whom apprehension was felt, emerged safely from his encounter with the outlaws.

Marine Officer Davis gave the following account of the battle:
"Captain Harlan Peley, United States marine corps, department commander guardia nacional de Nicaragua at Puerto Cabezas, was ambushed and killed one member of his patrol wounded by armed bandits who appeared early Saturday morning at Logtown, 120 kilometers from Puerto Cabezas, on Bagan's Bluff Lumber Company's railroad."

"Another guardia patrol under Lieutenant Darrah, of the marine corps, left immediately for the scene and was cut off by a large group of outlaws, with which he fought all night and Sunday morning."

Assisted by two bombing planes from the marine brigade, Lieutenant Darrah extricated himself and his patrol, having one man wounded.

"The entire guardia nacional garrison of Puerto Cabezas, under the command of Captain John C. Wood, United States marine corps, has now interposed itself between the force of bandits and the town of Puerto Cabezas and will attack outlaws today."

"Puerto Cabezas is now under control of guardia volunteers. Civilians awaiting arrival of United States naval vessels, which are due within 24 hours."

"Six unidentified foreign civilians are said to have been killed by the bandits. There are rumors of a centered attempt on the part of Nicaraguan organized bandits to seize the east coast."

"Colonel John Marston, United States marine corps area commander, with headquarters at Bluefields, announced that nothing was definitely known beyond the attack at Logtown, but that dispositions are being made that should control any situation that may arise."

"No disorders have occurred on the coast except in the disturbed area at Puerto Cabezas. There are rumors that the U. S. S. Memphis and the U. S. S. Annapolis are en route to the east coast of Nicaragua to protect American and foreign interests."

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—
The gunboat Asheville was moving toward Nicaraguan waters tonight to cope, if necessary, with insurgent activity in that country.

At the state department it was said she would land no forces unless the situation proved much more serious than official reports have indicated.

Official advice received by the navy department mentioned the death of only one marine, Captain Harlan Peley, but information reaching Panama City said Lieutenant Clyde Roy Darrah and a Sergeant Taylor also had lost their lives in hand-to-hand combat with the insurgents. A national guard force also was said to have been wiped out.

The Asheville, carrying a detachment of about 75 marines, was ordered to proceed from the Canal Zone to Puerto Cabezas on the east coast of Nicaragua.

The cruiser Memphis, with a considerably larger armed force aboard, was ordered from Guantanamo, Cuba,
to a position nearer the trouble zone, but was turned back shortly after by department.

The cruiser Peley was ambushed and killed some 15 miles inland from Puerto Cabezas Saturday night. Dispatches from Panama City said word reaching there was to the effect a relief expedition of guardia, led by Darrah and Taylor, was wiped out Sunday when they were surrounded by bandits and their ammunition became exhausted.

Latest advices to the marine corps headquarters said the relief force had been surrounded, but that supplies were being taken to it by airplane from Managua, on the west coast.

Two barographs were in the plane to be sent to the National Aeronautics Association in Washington for checking. The record will not become official.

BOARD APPOINTEE GETS NOTIFICATION OF HIS SELECTION

Action of Trustees Takes Place at Executive Session Held in Office of Chairman Samuel C.
Dobbs, Sr., Monday.

FRANKLIN DELAYS DECISION ON POST

Hospital Head Undecided, He Says, on Whether To Accept Position.
Came Here in 1927.

John B. Franklin, superintendent of Georgia Baptist hospital, Monday afternoon was elected superintendent of Grady hospital, to succeed Steve R. Johnston. The action was taken in an executive session of the Grady board of trustees at the office of Sam C. Dobbs, Sr., chairman.

Mr. Franklin, head of the Baptist institution since May, 1927, is expected to take over the duties of superintendent of Grady on July 1, when the resignation of Johnston takes effect.

Mr. Franklin was notified late Tuesday afternoon by the Grady board of his election and said he had not decided definitely whether he will accept the post, but that he would decide within a few days.

Although Mr. Franklin would not comment on the chances of his acceptance of the Grady post, it was generally believed that he would take the place.

Dr. W. H. Major, pastor of the Capitol Avenue Baptist church and chairman of the board of trustees of the Georgia Baptist hospital, Monday night, on behalf of himself and his colleagues, expressed the hope that Mr. Franklin would not relinquish his present post.

"He is an ideal superintendent," Dr. Major stated, "a man who knows the business of managing a hospital more thoroughly than anyone of my acquaintance. I would like a great blow for me and for the institution if we should lose him."

Selection of a new superintendent has occupied the attention of the Grady board for several weeks, and from a field which included a large number of candidates, the board recently narrowed its consideration down to three men.

A selection from the three was made Monday afternoon when Mr. Franklin was nominated by W. Eugene Harrington, chairman of a special committee which handled the matter for the board. The nomination was seconded by Mayor James L. Key.

Johnston will leave Grady after 13 years as superintendent. His assistant superintendent, Asmon Lewis, resigned recently, and the board of trustees appointed Miss Ruth Sheafe as director of admissions, to take over part of Lewis' duties.

Mr. Franklin, who came here May 1, 1927, as superintendent of the Georgia Baptist hospital, had an interesting and highly diversified career before entering hospital work, which

Subjects See Seven Monarchies Swept Aside in Past 31 Years

BY F. M. HARMON.

Associated Press Cable Editor.
Seven major countries, in which live almost 700,000,000 people, have seen their crowns swept aside by the advance of republics in the past 31 years, with various forms of governments being set up in place of monarchies. They are Russia, Germany, Austro-Hungary, China, Portugal, Greece and Turkey.

Portugal was the first of these kingdoms to go the way of a republic. The last monarch was Manoel II, of the house of Braganza-Coburg, who succeeded to the throne on the assassination of his father in 1908. After a short revolution, a republic was established on October 5, 1910, with

Dr. Theophilo Braga as provisional president. The following year a new constitution was adopted and Dr. Ma-noel De Arraiga became the first president. The present head of the government is General Oscar Carmona.

Next was China, one of the oldest monarchies in the world. The last emperor was Pu-Yi, whose family, styled Ta Ching Chao (Great Pure Dynasty), was of Manchu origin and dated from 1644. After a revolution the boy-emperor abdicated February 12, 1912, although retaining the title of emperor of the Manchu imperial house until 1924, when it was abolished. A republican constitution was adopted

BEAUTY ORDERED TO STAY IN JAIL

NICE, France, April 13.—(P)—Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger, awaiting trial here for the killing of her husband, Fred Nirdlinger, former New York broker, will not be granted a temporary release from prison, Magistrate Vachier, who is investigating the case, announced today.

The magistrate refused to explain his decision beyond saying that he hopes to terminate the inquiry sooner than he expected. This was believed to mean that the former American beauty queen may stand trial at the May session of the court instead of being bound over to the August session. It had been planned to release her on bail to save her from spending the hot summer in jail.

board of trustees $750,000 of the million-dollar fiftieth anniversary fund authorized by the board for permanent improvements had been raised. The fund was authorized at the board meeting last October and the amount announced as received today has been raised in five months. The names of the donors, except the General Education Board of New York, which contributed $250,000, were withheld.

Booker T. Washington, ex-slave and founder of the institute, and his successor, Dr. Moton, were eulogized today by speakers on the second day of the golden jubilee celebration for their work among members of their race.

Tuskegee today is far more than Booker T. Washington's monument," said Dr. Rush Rhee, president of Rochester University, Rochester, N. Y., this afternoon in lauding the institute. "His soul goes marching on—through his successor and colleagues who have carried on and developed what he began. We honor a great pioneer. We hail and bid Godspeed to great succession."

"It is my great privilege to express to Tuskegee Institute greetings from colleges and universities from the north, the east and the west. Your great accomplishments during half a century round out our service to American youth."

During the forenoon Dr. George Denny, president of the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, paid tribute to Dr. Moton and recalled his boyhood days when "we played marbles and hunted together over the red hills of Virginia. No cleaner, finer influence came into my young life. He had character, industry, determination and vision and he has taught his way to the heights."

Gold plaques bearing the profiles of Abraham Lincoln, General Samuel Armstrong and Booker T. Washington, the gift of Hampton Institute, of Hampton, Va., were presented this afternoon.

The plaques are the work of Dan W. Armstrong, founder of Hampton. The semi-centennial celebration of Tuskegee will reach the climax tomorrow, Founder's Day, with an address by President Hoover, brought to the chapel here by telephone, where it will be broadcast on a national chain.

Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, New York, president of the board, described Tuskegee as a "tree planted half a century ago whose leaves have been for the sealing of our nation and our world." The foresight and spirit of fair play of Booker T. Washington, founder of the school, and leadership of Dr. Moton, his successor, were commended by Dr. Schieffelin.

A telegram from Julius Rosenwald, Chicago financier and philanthropist, expressing keen disappointment at his inability to attend the celebration, was received by Dr. Moton.

Warm Weather To Stay Today, Forecast Says

Fair weather and warm temperatures, delighted at the joyous welcome of spring by Atlantans, will remain today, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, said Monday. Temperatures today will ramble between the 54 and 75 degree marks, the weather man said. The minimum Monday morning was 52, and during the afternoon the thermometer went up into the seventies and Atlanta got a good, hot sunbath.

ACCUSED SLAYER HELD IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Plaintiff C. Baker, who shot and killed estranged wife here April 2, to-surrendered to police. He is being held for questioning.

Baker walked into police headquarters and admitted he had shot his wife when she was making a visit to her four children. He said he had been hiding in Virginia.

President Is Unable To Attend Miles Rites

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—President Hoover will be unable to attend the funeral of his uncle, Major Laban J. Miles, who died at Pawhuska, Okla., yesterday, but he was deeply grieved by his death.

President Hoover lived with Major Miles for a year when he was a youngster.

A wreath from the White House conservatory has been sent to Pawhuska for the funeral.

Russell Reorganization Commission Meets

Members of the special legislative committee named by Governor-elect Russell to make a sweeping investigation of state departments and institutions with a view of reorganizing them on a more efficient and economical basis. Left to right they are Representative Huddleston, of Meriwether, author of the resolution; Representative Hugh Peterson, of Montgomery, senator-elect, who was named chairman; Representative Crowe, of Worth, secretary, and Representative Colson, of Glynn. SPEECH TEACHERS
MEET THURSDAY

The tentative program for the convention of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, to be held at the Henry Grady hotel April 16, 17 and 18, includes debates, reports from all officers and committees, a message from the president of the national association, with which the southern group is affiliated, round table discussions and extemporaneous speaking contests. The purpose of the organization is to encourage the spoken word and to develop the tendency in schools and colleges toward more speaking without reducing the present amount of written work.

Officers of the association are Edwin H. Paset, of North Carolina State College, president; Marvin G. Baner, Washington & Lee College; Miss Frances K. Gooch, Agnes Scott College; Miss Wilhelmina Hedde, of Dallas, and Miss Rose Johnson, of Birmingham, all vice presidents, and T. Earle Johnson, of the University of Alabama, secretary-treasurer.

Lillian Roth, Screen Star, Weds
Here as Vaudeville Tour Ends

Lillian Roth, noted screen and musical comedy player, concluded her vaudeville engagement in Atlanta last week by marrying William C. Scott, of Pittsburgh, a lumber dealer. "It's all news to me," his father said Monday. The couple were married at the home of the Rev. W. H. Faust, pastor of the Gordon Street Baptist church, Saturday afternoon and left immediately on the Crescent Limited for New York.

Mr. Scott, who arrived at the Biltmore hotel Friday, gave his age as 22 and said he was the son of Samuel Clyde Scott, of 1008 Tyndall street, Pittsburgh, a lumber dealer. "It's all news to me," his father said Monday when informed of the marriage, adding that the family had not heard from young Scott in six months.

Acting on the theory that a five-day wait must precede marriages in Georgia, Miss Roth and Scott went to Candler field early Saturday to take the morning mail plane to South Carolina. They took no baggage, intending to return to Atlanta before starting their honeymoon. Overcast skies, however, prevented the plane's flight and when a taxi driver informed them that if they were 21, delay would not be necessary, they hastened to buy a license and have the ceremony performed. Miss Roth, who is 21, gave her parents' names as Arthur and Catherine Roth, of New York. Neither bride nor bridegroom had been married previously.

Scott was graduated from Washington & Jefferson College, at Washington, Pa., last June, and immediately took up the study of aviation at the Brooks Flying field at San Antonio, Texas. Atlanta moviegoers

'Lift' on Highway Will Cost Dane Trip to Europe

Elmer Nelson, 28-year-old Dane, hitch-hiked himself into a one-way trip to Europe Sunday when he accepted a lift on the Atlanta-Lawrenceville highway, according to immigration officers.

Nelson was released Sunday morning from Bellwood camp after serving time on an assault and battery charge, and he started north. A detainer placed against him with the county authorities had miscarried in some manner, and there was nothing at the camp to hold him when the sentence expired, it was said.

H. E. Whitehill, clerk in the office of J. H. Wallis, district director of immigration, was present at Nelson's recent deportation hearing, and when he passed a young man on the Lawrenceville road, he recognized Nelson, it was said. Knowing that Nelson was wanted on a deportation order, Whitehill picked up the Dane and took him to Lawrenceville, where Nelson was lodged in jail. Nelson was brought to Fulton tower Monday, and is being held pending issuance of a passport to Denmark, it was said.

ATLANTA SEGREGATION ORDINANCE ATTACKED

A temporary injunction prohibiting the city from enforcing a race segregation ordinance passed in March by city council was signed Monday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court, on the petition of Mrs. Maude T. Kirby-Smith, of Franklin county, Tennessee, who alleged that police threatened to arrest a negro woman to whom she had rented a house on Felton drive.

Mrs. Kirby-Smith alleges that the negro woman was warned that she would be arrested if she moved into the house without obtaining a permit. The plaintiff alleges that the ordinance is violative of the constitution. Judge Moore's order is returnable April 25.

FLORIDA ROTARY HOLDS CONVENTION

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 13.—(AP)—Rotarians from all sections of Florida were in Jacksonville today for the annual convention of the thirty-ninth district of Rotary International.

The convention will continue through tomorrow.

Almon E. Roth, Palo Alto, Cal., president of Rotary International, was to be the principal speaker at the opening session. Following addresses by local and visiting officials the 1,000 delegates and visitors were to attend luncheons at four downtown hotels.

This afternoon they were guests at a garden party and tonight the governor's ball was held. F. Irving Holmes, Fort Myers, governor for this district, was to preside at various sessions today.

Man Is Badly Injured In Fall From Scaffold

H. D. Rivers, 24, of Hollywood road, who, with Jeff Davis, 55, of 979 Bankhead avenue, fell from a scaffolding Monday when a rope parted, is in a serious condition at Grady hospital, attendants there reported late Monday. Rivers was found to have concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the jaw. Davis sustained minor cuts and bruises about the head.

The accident occurred when the two were repairing the smokestack at the city pumping station at the Chattahoochee river. When more than 35 feet above the basement level of the station, the supporting rope gave way, hurling the men to the concrete piling, according to witnesses. Both men were unconscious when rescuers arrived a few moments later.

REDUCTION OF JUDGES SOUGHT IN FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 13.—(AP)—Measures proposing abolishment of 17 circuit judgeships in Florida, and appropriation of $7,500,000 to insure a minimum eight-month school term in every county were introduced in the senate today before the body went into executive session to consider 14 suspensions by Governor Carlton during the past two years.

When doors were reopened after 30 minutes, there was no announcement of action the senate had taken. Senator Samuel W. Getzen, Bushnell, offered more than half of the 38 bills that went on the senate calendar during the day.

Redistricting the state to eliminate seven of the existing 28 court circuits, and elimination of 17 circuit judgeships was proposed in one of his bills.

The measure would have the state divided into 21 circuits, with one judge each. In the fourth, sixth, eighth and thirteenth circuits, one extra judge would be allowed. These circuits include the state's largest counties, Duval, Dade, Hillsborough and Pinellas.

Judicial redistricting was recommended by Governor Carlton in his measure to the legislature last week. The house of representatives floundered through a 78-to-17 passage of a bill to extend delinquent tax payments to June 1, 1931, before buckling down to introduction of 91 new bills and resolutions in a late afternoon session.

The bills, ranged widely in their content matter, from establishment of April 13, Thomas Jefferson's birthday, as a state holiday, to introduction of a 90-day divorce bill.

Take the first step toward owning a PACKARD

If you have long admired and wanted a Packard we can show you how to have one. The chances are that we can prove to you that Packard ownership will cost you no more than it costs you to own your present car—whether it is in the Packard price class or not.

Why do you not take the first step toward Packard ownership? It is an easy step to take and does not obligate you in any way. Just step into our salesrooms—or call us on the phone. We cordially invite you to do either.

If you do, I assure you that you will not be subjected to any annoying sales pressure. That is not our method. But we would like to sit down with you and figure comparative ownership costs—what your car has been costing you and what our records show it would cost you to own a Packard. We will let the figures do the selling! If they show that you cannot have the comfort, the beauty and the distinction of Packard transportation without increased expense you will not be urged to buy.

Even if you own a car costing down to $1500 this message and invitation is directed to you. For while we offer DeLuxe and Individual Custom cars priced from $4285 to over $10,000, we also have eleven Standard models priced down to $2385 at the factory.

And these Standard models are Packards from stem to stern. Big, powerful cars on 126 and 133-inch wheelbases, and built as every Packard is always built—to give truly luxurious and trouble-free service through a very unusually long life.

Of course any Packard may be bought on the payment plan—terms to meet your convenience. We will allow you every dollar your old car is worth and apply its valuation against the down payment on your Packard.

Your Packard is here. F. F. Crowley

Grand Jury Indicts Stein in Gordon Case

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—After hearing nine witnesses, including three men held by police, the Bronx county grand jury today indicted Harry Stein, small-time racketeer, accused of slaying Vivian Gordon, Broadway blackmailer, on a charge of first-degree murder.

Stein, who has been held without bail in the Bronx county jail since his arrest last Monday on a short affidavit charging suspicion of the homicide, will be examined tomorrow. Unusual precautions were taken to conceal the identity of witnesses. The courthouse was heavily policed. It was learned, however, that David Butterman, Sam Greenbaum and Morris Levine, who were arrested with Stein, were called as witnesses. They have been unable to furnish the heavy bail of $50,000 each.

Daniel Brothers' New Store Draws Hundreds at Opening

Handsome front of the new store of Daniel Brothers Company which was opened Monday. It is constructed of Georgia marble, with inlaid trimmings, and is designed along modernistic lines.

Hundreds of visitors attended the opening of Daniel Brothers' new store at 45 Peachtree street Monday, paying high compliments to the operators of the business on the attractiveness of the establishment. Throughout the day and late into the evening the stream of people inspecting the new store was steady and many who could not attend sent messages of congratulation on the firm's achievement in building the new home. Numerous floral tributes added beauty and color to the store on the opening day. Flowers lined the display cases from the front of the store to the back, and were the subject of much admiration. Prominently displayed near the front of the store was a silver loving cup presented to the officers of the firm by the employees when the doors were opened Monday morning. The officers' names, Charles B. Daniel, president; L. Clayton Daniel, vice president; and L. P. Jones, secretary and treasurer, are inscribed on the cup.

KING ALFONSO'S THRONE TOTTERING

ed by the heavy strain, he turned to reporters, shaking his head gravely. "God guide us and Spain," he said. If De La Cierva succeeds in forming a conservative government, excluding liberals and monarchists, Romanones, Marin and the Marquis Alhucemas would be excluded. They are members of the Aznar cabinet now.

The republicans and the socialists are as hostile to De La Cierva as to the monarchy itself and they have already said that if he becomes premier they will declare a general strike immediately.

In the light of this ultimatum additional significance was attached to Romanones' description of De La Cierva's ability to use force. It is still possible, of course, that King Alfonso will not accept the cabinet's suggestion that De La Cierva be asked to form a government.

Santiago Alba, the leader of the constitutional party, said tonight that all the anti-monarchists must now follow the trail blazed in the Sunday elections. "There can be no other solution," he said, "since Spain wishes it, let her move toward a republic, but let her progress be without the ravages of revolution. For those who feel that they cannot in good conscience support the republic which now looms, there is but one course—to withdraw with dignity, sacrificing their own legitimate claims to the peace of the nation."

Police had some difficulty in restoring order among the rioting crowds in the capital, and before the battle was over five persons had been wounded by bullets and 25 others had been otherwise injured.

Reports of rioting came from other cities and three persons were said to have been wounded at Bilbao when civil guards fired into a crowd. At Orioled the purple, yellow and red flag of the Spanish republic was raised in the town square by a group of republicans celebrating the election victory. It was the first time the republican colors have flown in the public building since the republic of 1873.

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE, Associated Press Correspondent.

MADRID, April 13.—Shaken as never before by crushing republican victories in the municipal elections, King Alfonso's throne appeared doomed tonight unless there develops fortuitous elements not apparent at present.

Just how soon or in what way the monarchy may end and a republic be established is not yet clear. The crash may be postponed and it may be avoided, but no neutral observer in Madrid can see how. The writing on the wall since yesterday's balloting unmistakably decrees a republic. Not even the king's strongest supporters see how he can erase or revise that verdict.

Republicans Defy King. The king, however, has shown a great flair for meeting crises threatening his throne and has come through successfully on more than one occasion. He may do it again.

Republican leaders defied King Alfonso late today by issuing an ultimatum in which they bluntly demanded immediate establishment of a republic and broadly threatened to establish one by force if their desires were not granted.

Rumors that the king will abdicate and perhaps leave Spain to live in London or Paris persistently sweep the city. Government officials themselves seemed bewildered and some of the king's closest advisors frankly confessed they did not know what should be done.

Niceto Alcalá Zamora, one of the chiefs of the December revolt, gave an interview to the Associated Press in which he said:

"The king must go immediately. There is no other solution. Sunday's elections are unique in Spanish history. The country has found a means of overthrowing the unbearable regime by legal methods and has taken its first opportunity to do so. This is a civic lesson from the Spanish people in political self-education. The result tion of the monarchist tickets before the elections, but on election day many priests were believed to have voted republican. Similarly, most of the highest army officers are monarchists, but from colonels or captains down the forces are full of republicans.

Any course the king follows was believed to mean sooner or later the end of his dynasty. Those conversant with the situation saw four possible solutions:

- 1.—Abdication, which would settle the matter once and for all.
- 2.—Appointment of a new temporary cabinet to weather the storm.
- 3.—Execution of his program for district and general parliamentary elections. Inasmuch as the republicans have shown their strength, such an alternative would mean a republican parliament proclaiming a constitutional republic and ousting the king.
- 4.—Declaration of another military dictatorship which would be answered by a general strike and probably civil war.

he has followed, from the administrative end, for about 20 years.

His education was a forecast of this early career, embracing courses in the Mississippi Normal College at Hattiesburg, Miss., for two years, in the West Point Military Academy at West Point, Miss., for one year, in the Mississippi A. & M. College at Hattiesburg, Miss., for one year, and in Georgetown College at Georgetown, Ky., for one year.

After these varied courses, followed by a course in business administration at Nashville, Mr. Franklin worked for several years as a bookkeeper, and even taught school for awhile before entering hospital work as superintendent of the Baylor University hospital at Dallas, Texas, in 1911. He held this position until 1925, and during his administration was instrumental in erecting several new buildings in connection with the hospital.

which more than doubled its bed capacity.

Illness of Wife.

Mr. Franklin was obliged to discontinue his hospital activities in 1925 owing to the illness of his first wife, an illness which proved fatal two years later. After his wife's death he held the superintendency of the Hermann hospital at Houston, Texas, for a short while, coming from that institution to the Georgia Baptist, where he has served until the present time.

One of the organizers of the Georgia Hospital Association two years ago, Mr. Franklin served as its secretary-treasurer for the first year of its existence. He also is affiliated with the American Hospital Association, having been first vice president of that body in 1924, and of the American Protestant Hospital Association.

"It is my interest in the welfare of the sick and indigent that has kept me at this sort of work," he said Monday. "And beyond that I am interested in the work of hospitalization; not just the work of a single hospital, but of all hospitals. Yet I have found that when you raise the level of conditions in one hospital, you do something to raise the standard everywhere."

Believer in System.

Mr. Franklin is a confirmed believer in system as a means of regulating hospital work, but not to the exclusion of the human element.

"What I have always demanded from my staff is that they show something more than a merely professional interest in their patients. The man touches the little individual fancies, sometimes goes further toward restoring patients to health than coldly scientific attitude. My staff never refused co-operation in this respect," he added.

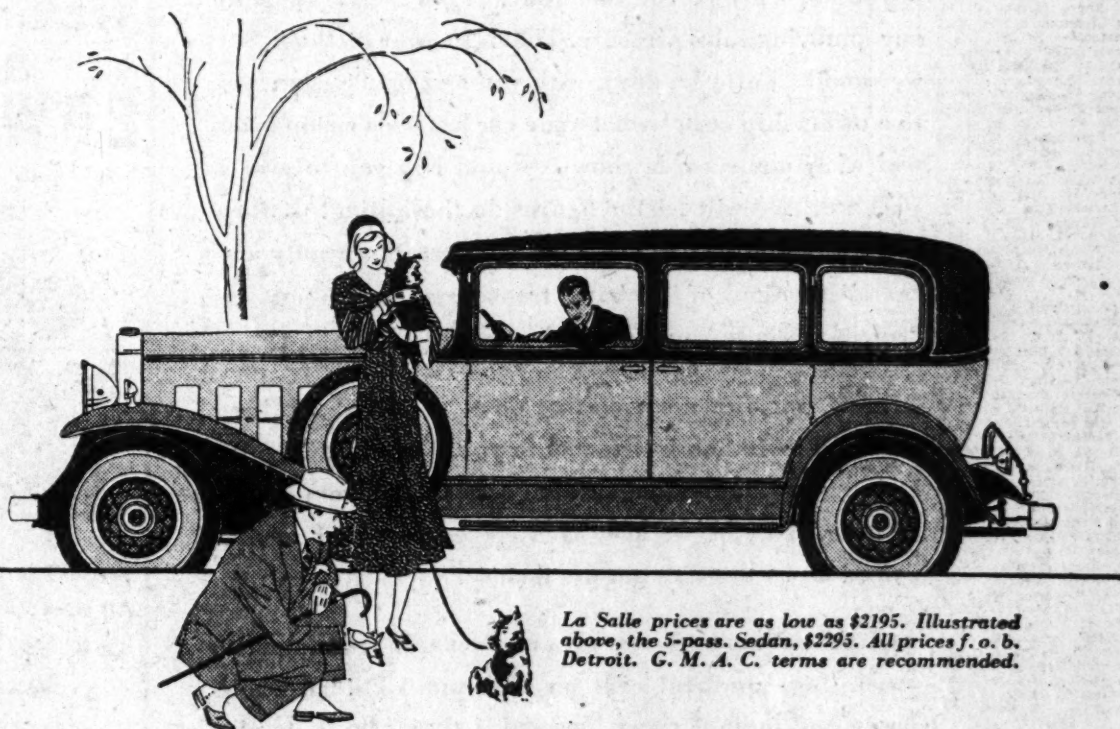

Mr. Franklin was born January 1880, in Abbott, Miss., the son of L. and Anna E. Franklin. He married the second time in 1928 and his family in Atlanta consists of his wife's mother, and a small daughter. He also has a grown son by first marriage, Garnett Franklin, Dallas, Texas.

Have you ever considered THE ECONOMY OF LA SALLE OWNERSHIP?

La Salle prices are as low as $2195. Illustrated above, the 5-pass. Sedan, $2295. All prices f.o.b. Detroit. G. M. A. C. terms are recommended.

In your admiration of LaSalle beauty and your delight in La Salle performance, do not overlook the fact that La Salle is an economical car to own. This economy is of the fundamental sort which always attends quality. The same fine design and precise craftsmanship that give both Cadillac and LaSalle their spirited, smooth and silent performance, assure low operating and maintenance cost. Even LaSalle beauty is a sound investment because it remains in approved good taste season after season. Yet LaSalle prices are but little higher than those of many cars that lack its distinguished character.

PROGRESS IN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Last year 2,020 men, women and children lost their lives in grade crossing accidents. This record, ghastly though it is, shows a reduction of 465 fatalities, or nearly 19 per cent. as compared with 1929. Persons injured in such accidents in 1930 totaled 5,517, a decrease of 1,287 compared with the previous year. The number of such accidents also lessened—4,853 in 1930, as against 5,975 in 1929.

The decrease of 19 per cent. in grade crossing fatalities contrasts with an increase of 4 per cent. in all other highway fatalities.

The reduction in the number of accidents at highway crossings encourages the railroads to continue their efforts to educate motorists to cross tracks cautiously, an endeavor that is particularly timely, now that the season for increased use of the automobile is at hand. Every one of the 7,537 deaths and injuries could have been prevented if the drivers of the automobiles had only stopped, looked and listened to make sure that no train was coming.

The railroads, in addition to their educational campaigns, are spending huge sums annually (more than 28 million dollars in 1929) for grade separation and for gates, signs and warning devices, to bring about increased safety.

A continuation of concentrated efforts and of co-operation by press and public will, it is hoped, bring about a further decrease in grade crossing accidents.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Why You Should "Spring-Clean" Your System

Honed up all winter, without fresh-air exercise, and eating few or no fresh green vegetables, allows the system to become all clogged up—stomach, intestines, colon, liver, kidneys and even sweat glands—with poisonous refuse matter which must be cleaned out—your human "flue," unstoppered—else you feel slow, sluggish, dazed, no appetite or energy and sometimes ache in head and joints.

The "human flue" should be thoroughly cleaned, just as you do the home, to make it more livable, and this you can best do with Jacobs' Laxative Salt, by simply taking two teaspoonsful before breakfast for several mornings. After the first dose you feel a pleasant sensation of returning energy and vigor, a clearing up of the head, a natural liver and bowel action—it thoroughly cleans the system of its winter accumulation of toxic poisons—and may be had at any drug store.—(adv.)

ELECTRIC DEMAND SHOWS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(P)—Matthew S. Sloan, president of the Brooklyn Edison Company, told president Hoover today the demand for industrial electricity was picking up rapidly on the eastern seaboard and the Pacific coast.

Sloan said the increased demand indicated a renewal of industrial activity in these spots.

FATIGUE MAY CAUSE COMMON COLD

System is More Susceptible to Infection When One is Exhausted

Nearly every cold that is suffered got its start when the afflicted was "tired out." A fatigued person is easily chilled, and when this condition occurs the sneeze and sore throat make their appearance.

Since most every one experiences fatigue in mid or late afternoon, it is wise to overcome this condition by eating or drinking something sweet. Candy, cookies, sweetened beverages and ice cream are quickly digested, and the energy in the sugar is ready at once to restore vigor. For children, a slice of bread and butter sprinkled with sugar is an appropriate "pick-up."

In these winter days, the importance of diet in relation to the resistance of the system should not be overlooked. The person who eats a wide variety of wholesome food fortifies himself against disease. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute. (adv.)

Looking At Life

His Song of the Soul

A few days ago in Fort Worth, Texas, I heard a violinist play "The Song of the Soul," from "The Climax" of many years ago, as I never had heard that song played before.

The violinist was totally blind. A few years ago he was a printer. One day a careless helper left a can of acid sitting over one of the presses. The printer came along and started up the press, which automatically set an electric fan whirling, and the fan blew the blinding acid into his eyes.

With both eyes gone, things looked black . . . but not as black as they might have. A short time before the printer had taken out some Pacific Mutual "5-Way" insurance. Within a few days after his accident, a Pacific Mutual man handed him a check for $7,500, an amount equal to the full face value of his policy, as specific indemnity for the loss of his eyes. For an entire year thereafter he received $262.50 per month. Since then his income has been $112.50 per month and this will continue as long as he lives. Years hence, when he dies, $7,500 will again be paid, this time to his family and representing the death benefit under his policy.

How did he become a violinist? He wanted something to occupy his time. He thought playing the violin might help. A few elementary lessons discovered the fact that he had unsuspected genius. He continued his studies until he became a master. Now he has a nice income from teaching and from his work as concert violinist with a large orchestra.

His "Song of the Soul" as I heard it was a beautiful thing. Life to him is beautiful, despite the fact that he sees it only in memory. And his whole story, I think, is one more beautiful demonstration of the wonderful work that life insurance is doing in softening those shocks that seem sure to come at one time or another into every life.

TURN HOOVER OUT, SHOUSE DEMANDS

Democratic Leader Asks Home State Aid in Defeating President.

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(AP)—Speaking in President Hoover's adopted state, Chairman Shouse of the democratic national executive committee tonight urged California to aid in turning the present occupant out of the White House in 1932.

Addressing a Jefferson Day dinner under auspices of the democratic committee, Shouse predicted his party would win the presidency next year, but said that "strenuous, unremitting effort" would be required.

"An harassed and indignant nation is preparing, if I read the auguries correctly," he said, "to rid itself of the most inept, inadequate and incompetent administration that fate has brought to Washington in at least two decades."

"For more than two years," he added, "the government of the United States has simply drifted. We have never had action where postponement was possible. We have had avoidance of responsibility when leadership was pointedly required."

"Not only has nothing been done, but we have not even had any statement of policy or principle that was not so hedged about with qualifications and so obscured by evasions that nobody could clearly read its meaning."

"Even after two years you will find people in different parts of the country arguing from exactly opposite viewpoints what the president really thinks about the tariff, the farm problem, prohibition, public utility control, and in fact every other major issue that is engrossing the attention of the nation."

Explaining that "perhaps all this has not been the sole fault of your distinguished fellow Californian," Shouse continued:

"No man can be blamed for not having been born or not having developed into a major statesman. But it is a question whether aspirants to a post for which one is not fitted may not be as bad a public offense as deliberately neglecting the job, to which he has attained."

"At least we had the right to hope that Mr. Hoover would give the best that was in him to the great service of his exalted office. Our complaint is that he did not do so."

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 13.—(AP) Amid hectic debate between state and defense counsel and occasional hand-clapping from spectators, who were quieted only by threats of a bailiff to "throw you all out," the preliminary hearing of Alexander Pantages and four others on immorality charges began today before Judge Arthur L. Mundo.

Without apparent emotion, 17-year-old Lydia Nitto, co-accuser with Camille Livingston of the multi-millionaire showman and his alleged associates, related a story of an alleged hiring of herself and her friend for a party at a fashionable hotel here last October 30.

State and defense counsel fell into protracted argument over cross-examination aimed at establishing Miss Nitto's age. Then Miss Livingston was called and asked to identify the defendants.

She pointed out William Jobelmann, former publicity agent for Pantages, and Mrs. Olive Clark Day, who are accused in Los Angeles of operating a bureau for the sale of young girls to wealthy men, and John F. Mills, real estate broker.

"Do you see Mr. Pantages?" the state asked.

Miss Livingston peered about the courtroom, left the stand and walked through the crowd with Richard Cantillon, a defense attorney, at her heels.

"Please make him sit down," shouted Frank Dunn, deputy district attorney, to the court. "He's tampering with the witness."

"I'm only trying to help her," retorted Cantillon. A moment later she saw Pantages and the spectators clapped while the bailiff roared for order. She made a similar attempt to locate Jesse Shreve, land promoter and the fifth defendant, but failed, although all defendants were sitting inside the courtroom railing.

Miss Nitto testified she and Miss Livingston were driven to San Diego by Jobelmann, accompanied by Mrs. Day, and were aware of the purpose of the trip.

"They were taken to a hotel, Miss Nitto said, and introduced to Shreve, who took them to a motion picture show. Later in the evening, she said, they met Pantages under the name of 'Alex Brown.'"

They returned to the hotel and she said Pantages received a call from the hotel office a few minutes later, after Mills had arrived, informing Pantages that the women could not remain in the room.

Miss Nitto said the others left and she remained with Pantages. The next day the three women returned to Los Angeles. She said Mrs. Day showed her a roll of money and explained the men had arranged "every thing."

WAKATSUKI CALLED TO JAPANESE HELM

TOKYO, April 14.—(Tuesday).—(UP)—The Emperor Hirohito today ordered Reijiro Wakatsuki, former premier, to organize a new cabinet. Wakatsuki will succeed Yuko Hamaguchi, whose ill health following an attempt on his life last fall forced him to relinquish his office.

The emperor accepted the resignation of the Hamaguchi cabinet and forthwith named Wakatsuki to form a new ministry. The succession had been anticipated.

Atlanta Auto Crash Victims In Double Funeral Today

EDWIN SHUTE.

Double funeral rites will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel for Paul L. Ewing, president of Ewing Brothers' Wholesale Jewelry Company, 5 Plaza way, and his brother-in-law, Edwin N. Shute, who were killed in an automobile accident at Sycamore, Ga., Sunday morning.

Dr. Wade H. Boggs will officiate at the double service, and interment will follow in Greenwood cemetery. The accident in which the Atlantas were killed occurred when the two, en route to Florida to join Mrs. Ewing, her mother and Miss Dorothy Ewing, collided head-on with a fruit truck driven by W. R. Williamson, of Cordale. They left their home, 2045 Ponce de Leon avenue, early Sunday morning and were planning to return Thursday.

Williamson, driver of the truck, was injured internally, and at first was thought to be dying in a Tifton hospital. Monday, however, his condition was reported to be improved, and physicians were hopeful of a recovery.

Mr. Ewing, business leader for more than 20 years, and a native Atlantan, is survived by his wife, his daughter, Dorothy Ewing; two brothers, Oliver N. Ewing, and Luther E. Ewing; a sister, Mrs. A. J. Calloway, and his mother, Mrs. C. J. Ewing, all of Atlanta. Mr. Shute is survived by his mother, Mrs. Edwin N. Shute, Sr., and his sister, Mrs. Ewing.

Now Take Off Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

No tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the coarse lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream).

At lunch eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli or fresh turnips you can eat. EAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD OF these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit: cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears—any except bananas. Substitute turnips for potatoes, substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP! Eat as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK ANY DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. "The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat."

Start today. Clip this dietary out and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle costs less than a dollar.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—(adv.)

NEW FARM RELIEF PLANNED BY G. O. P.

Effort Will Be Made To Redeem Pledges, Rep. Haugen Asserts.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—New legislation to redeem republican platform pledges of farm relief was forecast today by Chairman Haugen of the house agriculture committee.

Haugen in an interview proposed the equalization fee as a solution of the agricultural problem if the federal farm board has not bettered conditions by the time congress meets. The Iowa twice sponsored the "McNary-Haugen" bill containing the fee. The measure was vetoed by President Coolidge.

"The board has tried to make the tariff effective but has failed," said Haugen. "That was their major purpose."

"The board has cost the government at least $200,000,000. The equalization fee would have met the farm condition without any cost to the treasury."

"Most of us thought from the beginning the board could not accomplish the job. We must now find something that can meet the situation. One hundred per cent co-operation has been tried before but has always failed. There is nothing to this talk of reducing production. That too has been tried before. Congress must look for a new solution of the farm problem."

BIG MICHIGAN FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

MEMONIEE, Mich., April 13.—(AP)—A fire of undetermined origin that destroyed a lumber yard and three dwellings here and two buildings across the Memoniee river at Marinette, Wis., with a loss estimated at more than $1,000,000 was brought under control shortly after 9 a. m. today.

The A. W. Wells lumber mills and yards were destroyed. Embers from the blaze carried on a stiff breeze spread to 50 houses here. Three were destroyed.

Across the river at Marinette an ice house owned by City Treasurer George E. Cleary flamed from flying embers and was burned along with a shack.

Belief that the fire was of incendiary origin was expressed by A. W. Wells, president of the lumber company. He said the loss was largely covered by insurance. An investigation was started at once.

Included in the lumber company loss were about 30,000,000 feet of lumber and 2,000,000 feet of saw logs.

GNAT DISASTER SURVEY FINISHED

CLARKSDALE, Miss., April 13.—(AP)—E. P. Krick, of Monroe, La., field disaster representative of the National Red Cross, today completed a survey of distress conditions in the Mississippi and Arkansas deltas where an invasion of buffalo gnats brought death to more than 1,000 mules and five stock.

The gnats, which swarmed in unprecedented masses through the lowlands adjoining the Mississippi river, stinging and smothering cattle to death, were dispersed by high winds and rains.

Krick said he was satisfied that the invasion was at an end, and that the only question now before relief agencies was how best to assist farmers in spring planting operations have crippled by the loss of field animals. Leaving for Monroe, late today said he would forward his recommendations for relief measures to National Red Cross from there, said he was not prepared to say whether the loss in live stock has been mated at $100,000.

Five new Stearnman mail planes, powered with J-6 "seven" Wright Whirlwinds of 240 horsepower, are expected at Candler field this week to go into service on the Atlanta-New Orleans-Houston lines of American Airways, Inc. The new craft—which are said to be the fastest mail ships extant, with a peacock blue fuselage and brilliant orange wings—carry a payload of 650 pounds at a cruising speed in the neighborhood of 120 miles an hour. The mail planes now in use by American Airways cruise at a little less than 100 miles an hour and carry about 400 pounds of mail.

During the summer, American Airways plans to shorten the route between Atlanta and New Orleans by eliminating Birmingham from the itinerary of its mail planes with the inauguration of passenger service to that point on May 1, and including Montgomery in the list of its mail service stops. With swifter planes, reduced mileage over the route, and schedules between Atlanta and New Orleans will be considerably shortened, possibly by an hour or more. The plan contemplates improved mail facilities northward for New Orleans business houses and banks, as well as speedier mail service southward for Atlanta enterprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Jr., accompanied by a party of friends, will take off early this morning in their Lockheed Vega Vesp for Detroit, where they will view the 1931 models on display at the International Aircraft Show. Beeler Lievins will be in charge of the swift monoplane. The party plans to return to Candler passengers carried in January, 4,141 carried in February and 4,906 carried in March. This represents a gain of more than 25 per cent in three months.

Feminine fliers, who have been burning up the airways during the past few weeks, will have a chance to show their wares in the national air races, in Cleveland, August 29-September 7. Officials announced a day or so ago that for the first time a free-for-all speed event for women, with prize money totaling $7,500, would be held. It will be a 50-mile affair, five laps over a 10-mile course. Elvior Smith, Gladys O'Donnell, Ruth Nichols (who seems to be today's speed champion), Amelia Earhart, Louise Thaden, May Hailip, Blanche Noyes, Phoebe Omie and other aviatrices with at least 200 hours in the air are expected to compete.

NEGRO BELL HOPS AND WOMEN FINED

Prosecution of cases made in the Cecil hotel during a recent vice crusade began Monday in criminal court of Atlanta when two negro bell hops were fined by Judge Jesse M. Wood. Three white women also were given suspended sentences of eight months each on vagrancy charges.

M. L. Gary, 30, negro, was fined $150 on a liquor charge and was given 12 months on another charge. Samuel Neal, 51, negro, was fined $150 on a liquor charge.

Walter Lees and Frederick Brossy, Detroit fliers, Monday night were carrying on toward their third day in the air in an attempt at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., to set a new world's non-refueling record. Flying a cabin monoplane, powered with a Packard Diesel, they dived back and forth across the beach, the weather improving hourly after a chill dawn that had presaged wind and rain. At 6:52 o'clock, eastern standard time, Monday night, they had been aloft 34 hours. They must stay up until 1:15 p. m. (eastern standard time) Wednesday in order to claim a new record over the present mark of 75 hours 23 minutes, set recently in Africa by French fliers.

Parlous days of the American air corps in the great war were recalled Monday at Peterboro, N. J., where a brand-new Fokker pursuit ship reached a speed in excess of 200 miles an hour. The test was cut to 20 minutes when the high speed caused collapse of the landing gear fairing. The pilot, whose identity was guarded by the war department, brought the "mystery" craft to a safe landing. The plane, powered by a Wright Whirlwind of about 600 horsepower, carries seven machine guns, some of which are concealed in the wings, and three bomb racks. The craft, a two-seater, is an open-cockpit, low-wing monoplane.

"Evidence continues to pile up that the important turning point in air operations which developed during the summer of 1930 is continuing with unabated vigor during the first quarter of 1931," according to James C. Willson, New York aviation authority. Quoting incomplete statistics, Willson points out that "figures for two of the leading lines show 3,996

Luke Stewart, of Atlanta, and Lawrence Brock, of South Carolina, who were serving terms for desertion at Fort McPherson, sprang a door and eluding the sentry made their escape on foot, the reports said.

Treasury appointment of J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, as custodian of the new postoffice building was announced Monday. The official communication from J. P. Harper, chief of the division of appointments, read:

"The secretary directs me to advise you that he has this day approved your appointment as custodian without pay, of the site upon which the United States postoffice (new) building is to be erected at Atlanta, Ga."

LONG INTERESTED IN LOUISIANA RACE

NEW ORLEANS, April 13.—(P)—Governor Huey P. Long, adept at brewing his own political pot, was out in the eighth congressional district last week to dunk in the political pot the opponent of his candidate to represent the district in Washington.

LONG INTERESTED IN LOUISIANA RACE

Overton's opponent is Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana College, a Baptist institution. The race is to fill the office of the late James B. Aswell, also a former educator. His campaign, the first to actively engage the governor since he ran his own race to defeat Joseph E. Ransdell for the United States senatorship, has been intensive but less fiery. The radio and weekly newspaper, which played important parts in the senate campaign, were not active in the present drive which closed today. With both candidates and the governor speaking in Rapides parish, the heart of the district.

PHOTOGRAPHERS OPEN ANNUAL SESSION HERE

Costume Ball Features First Day of Convention at Henry Grady.

The first day of the three-day annual session of the Southeastern Photographers' Association, which opened Monday at the Henry Grady hotel, was brought to a close with a brilliant costume ball at the hotel. A program including business sessions, a luncheon, and a banquet and dance is slated for today.

The convention opened Monday with an address by Walter Reeves, of Atlanta, following the invocation by Dr. Louie Newton. During the afternoon A. J. Chass, of Atlanta; George Kossuth, A. B. Cornish and several others were heard. Last night the costume ball began at 8:30, and was attended by the majority of the approximately 200 photographers and their families who registered on Monday from six southern states.

At the business session this morning a number of short talks on new

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

AINSWORTH RAPS BIRTH REPORT

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 13.—(AP)—Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, president of the College of Bishops, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, issued a statement today criticizing the committee representing the Council of Churches of Christ in America for its recent action on the subject of birth control.

"I wish to register my protest against the impropriety of the recent publication of the committee on the subject," Bishop Ainsworth said. "This committee represents nobody but itself, and it certainly does not represent the Methodist church."

"However undesirable it is for children to be born in excessive numbers in families that are unprepared to nurture and care for them, this is not a matter for the paternal intervention of the church."

"Such officious invasion of the sacred realm of the home is dangerous in the extreme and in the end will promote more promiscuous sexual relations. It is blasting at the foundations of civilization and society, whether it is so intended or not."

to Atlanta and vicinity view to the deplorable condition of the present sewer system.

Mr. Reynolds' announcement came on the heels of a statement by Walter C. Hendrix, chairman of the board of Fulton county commissioners, that Fulton county stands ready now to begin execution of the extensive program planned as a result of the recent survey by Whitman, Requaardt & Smith, famous Baltimore sanitary experts.

The board head pointed to a resolution of the board passed February 4, in which the commission is definitely on record that it will furnish the labor for the $13,000,000 in improvements which are contemplated and which engineers have declared can be made over a period of 10 years.

"Atlanta must do something to relieve the intolerable situation which exists along the watersheds around the city," Mr. Reynolds declared. "Hundreds of thousands of untreated sewage is poured into these creeks each day, thus presenting a serious health menace and making it impossible for citizens to enjoy the free use of their properties."

"If formation of a sewer district can relieve the condition we should take the necessary steps to form such a district, but if this will not afford relief, then the proper steps should be taken to relieve it in other ways."

"Property owners in the Peachtree creek basin have again indicated that they will appeal to the courts to force the borough to desist in polluting Peachtree creek, and the courts will order that the nuisance be abated. The best legal authorities tell us that this will be done."

County Now Ready.

"Fulton county is now ready to go forward with its part of the work, estimated at nearly $6,000,000 in labor," Mr. Hendrix declared. "It is especially desirable that the work proceed at once because the county has an abundance of labor. Later it might be impossible to furnish the necessary labor for excavating and back filling the sewer ditches. Fulton county is now ready and would welcome the opportunity to contribute to the health and comfort of its citizens."

Mr. Mayson prepared a first draft of a proposed sewer district, but several changes were necessary and he has been working on it, so that council can approve it at the summer session of the Georgia legislature.

"Council several months ago asked Fulton commissioners in a formal resolution to agree to furnish the labor."

Text of the councilmanic resolution follows:

Resolved by mayor and general council, that the honorable board of county commissioners of roads and revenues be and hereby is respectfully requested to co-operate with the borough of Atlanta in the carrying out of the $13,000,000 sewer extension program, as filed in the report to mayor and general council of Whitman, Requaardt & Smith, engineers, and Robert & Co., associate engineers. Adopted January 19, 1931. Approved January 21, 1931. JAMES L. KEY.

A correct copy.

J. HENSON TATUM, Clerk of Council.

Text of the county commissioners' action on council's request follows:

By Commissioner Hendrix: Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of this board that the city of Atlanta contemplates an extension of its trunk line sewers, and

Whereas, it has been the custom of this board in the past to furnish a large amount of convict labor for the purpose of digging and back-filling trenches and other work in sewer extension work.

Therefore be it resolved, that it is now the sense of this board that upon some definite plan being adopted and submitted for approval that such convict labor as may be available will be furnished said city.

The above resolution having been read, a motion of Commissioner Hendrix, seconded by Commissioner Etheridge, it was ordered that same be and is adopted and made the order of the board.

3 DEAD, 20 HURT IN TUNNEL BLAZE

Laborers and Firemen Trapped Seeking Injured in Chicago Sewer.

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP)—Suffocating smoke from a fire in a sanitary district tunnel 50 feet under a West Side street killed three men tonight and trapped an undetermined number of laborers and firemen who climbed down to rescue them. Twenty other men were taken to hospitals in a serious condition.

Overcome by smoke, workers collapsed at their posts. The first relay of firemen who attempted to bring them out likewise was overcome.

In an air chamber at a far end of the tunnel, which is under construction to handle sewage, a number of workers were believed to be safe and capable of holding out until help reached them. They had fresh air through ventilation pipes reaching the surface.

All life-saving equipment and ambulances on the West Side of town were concentrated at the tunnel shaft, and emergency hospitals were set up in rude construction shacks. Every

McCutcheon To Face Bribery Trial Today

Ex-Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon is scheduled to go on trial this morning in Fulton superior court on charges of accepting two bribes from P. O. Hebert in connection with purchase of fire department equipment. McCutcheon's case is set before Judge Edgar E. Fomeroy.

McCutcheon is charged with accepting $200 from Hebert on one occasion, and $250 from him in another instance. Three former members of general council pleaded guilty last week and received fines of $300 each. These were ex-Councilman T. Frank Callaway, ex-Councilman J. T. Osburn, and ex-Alderman Claude Buchanan, who were charged with bribery.

doctor in the district was summoned for emergency duty.

All the rescued men were unconscious when brought to the surface. Those deemed in the most critical state were given treatment with inhalators on the spot; the less serious cases were taken to St. Anthony de Padua hospital.

Clark Lucky To Escape Altar, Court Decides

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 13.—(AP)—The state supreme court affirmed today the dismissal of H. H. Clark's breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist.

Clark, a pastor and co-worker of Mrs. Kennedy's in evangelistic activities in Seattle prior to the time he instituted his suit, should have been glad to escape marriage with Mrs. Kennedy under the circumstances, the court said. The decision held that Clark had waived in his desire to get married at the time Mrs. Kennedy refused him. "It would seem," the opinion read, "that so happy an escape should not be converted into a cause of action."

Strengthened Big League Teams Set for Gala Getaway Today; Chattanooga Prepared for Opening Stand Against Crackers

It is just as well that the sneak thief DID break into the Cracker dressing room and purloin their gloves. Things were going entirely too smoothly out there. Perchance a smug attitude toward the pennant race had developed; certainly it had if complacency is catching.

It appears that as far as the press, the public, the business office and most of the league territory at large are concerned, the race is over and the Crackers have won.

It is just as well that something happened to disturb the serenity of the scene. Such contentment breeds embarrassment. The theft of the implements of warfare may prove a tonic.

THEY'VE QUIT CLAIMING EVERYTHING.

Zipp Newman, in the Birmingham News, has discovered that not one of the Southern league managers has claimed the pennant. Managers quit doing that years ago. When club owners grew hard-hearted and began firing managers who did not produce—in other words, after commercialism completely replaced sentiment in the game—the pilots soon learned it was better to claim nothing and discourage pennant hopes.

College football coaches go to the extreme of this policy. They NEVER expect to win. Professional boxers stand alone on the old-fashioned platform of claiming everything beforehand and giving excuses afterward.

It has been years since a manager freely predicted his club would win a pennant. They are content now to make modest claims of "giving them a battle" or being "right up there at the finish" or similar generalities. Only the gentlemen of the press now rush out with rash claims of greatness and success for favored clubs.

THE PARTRIDGE DEAL.

Blinkey Horn, in the Nashville Tennessean, evidently is not pleased with the sale of Jay Partridge to Reading. He says in part:

Jo Jo Klugman, boss of Those Vols, has finally found a place for himself to labor. He notified whom it might concern last night that he would be at second base Tuesday when Those Vols open the thirty-first campaign against the Barons. Here's how it all came about:

A ball player Those Vols once paid NINE THOUSAND dollars to sign a contract, was sold yesterday. That was the fattest bonus ever given a Dixie trooper. Did Those Vols get nine grand for Jay Bird Partridge? Can that be laughter I hear?

Mr. Partridge, 'twill be recalled, was set free by Judge Landis, who accused Birmingham of indulging in hokus pokus. There was quite a stampede to get him. Clarence Rowland, who is always willing to spend somebody else's money, agreed to give Jay Bird Partridge NINE THOUSAND dollars if he would sign as a Vol again.

So Mr. Partridge, who long ago with Buck Redfern, set a record for twin killings at second while laboring as a Vol for Jimmy Hamilton, came back to Sulphur Dell. He hit 40 home runs last year. He drove in 127 tallies. Mr. Partridge clubbed the nutmeg for .361.

New he's gone. He's gone because his arm is gone. It's been gone for some time. Still, it happens to be a fact that NO ONE in Dixie excelled Jay Partridge in making assists last year. He had 556. Which was almost a hundred more than Jack Sheehan, of Atlanta, his nearest rival.

So some folks are wondering if Those Vols were wise or otherwise in bargaining Jay Partridge off to Reading.

Comments on the trade of Jim Poole, the old home run maker, to Reading and acquisition of "Country" Davis are not yet in hand. It seems strange at first glance that Owner Bob Allen would discard Partridge and Poole, a combination that produced 90 home runs in 1930. But what good, pray, did those 90 home runs do anyone but the manufacturers themselves. The Vols finished in seventh place right on.

It will be interesting to see how many home runs the former Volunteers make in Reading—unless, of course, the fences up at Reading are just back of first base as at their old slugging grounds.

AUTHORITATIVE VERSION OF CRASH.

At the risk of repeating a story that has been told and retold several times in its essentials I want to reproduce Pa Stripling's own account of the crash of the Stripling plane in Texas for its descriptive merit. Pa was here the other day en route to New York to arrange final details for the Schmeling fight, but he was still a little excited over the recent crash-up and told his yarn something like this:

The feller in Brownsville told us we had better stop at Corpus Christi for a weather report, but when we got up about where we'd have to turn off for that town the weather was still good.

W. L. said there wasn't any use losing 45 minutes, so we went on. Ran into a little rain. Then we ran out of it. We ran into some more and out again. And then it broke on us all of a sudden. Couldn't see more than a block.

W. L. kept on flying. Pretty soon that engine began to miss.

"Shucks," I told W. L., "this thing ain't a submarine; it flies in the air, not under water. We better get down." There was a good place to land, but when we got down we had used it up. The plane lands at about 65 miles an hour. We used up a hundred yards right now going down hill. The brakes wouldn't hold because the grass was wet. The wing hit a tree and swung us around and we headed for a clump of trees. They stopped that plane just as easy; just like throwing a knife into a potato.

W. L. asked us if anyone was hurt and we all said no and got out. The plane was shipped to the factory and W. L. will be flying again pretty soon.

Pa expatiated on the sound of an airplane motor quitting. "It's a terrible sound," said Pa. "In that plane of ours I often go to sleep. I'll be sound asleep and W. L. will switch from one tank of gas to another. When he switches that engine gurgles once or twice and I wake up right now. W. L. does it just for meanness and laughs for 10 minutes when I jump and wake up."

Layton Challenges Hall To Cue Match

Johnny Layton, ten-time holder of the world's three-cushion title and a former holder of the world's pocket billiard championship, has issued a challenge to Allen Hall, runner-up for the 1930 three-cushion title, for a 600-point match, the winner to qualify to meet Arthur Thurnblad, present champion, in a special match.

Layton, who has been on tour for the last two months, stopped in Chicago and personally filed his challenge with C. A. Storer, director of tournaments for the National Billiard Association of America.

MAJORS READY FOR BIG OPENING OF WARS TODAY

Strong Teams Will Perform Before Notables on Eight Fronts.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(P)—It's fair and warmer along the baseball fronts for the grand opening of the major league season tomorrow.

Far from feeling any pinch of the times, the 16 American and National league clubs have marshalled reinforcements, increased the wages of many of their star performers and otherwise set the stage for a gala getaway as well as a brisk campaign and big business all summer long.

FANS TO ATTEND.

Approximately 230,000 fans are expected to turn out for the eight opening games, prepared to give the great American sport an appropriate send-off and attack the fresh supplies of peanuts, popcorn and soda pop with patriotic enthusiasm.

President Hoover heads the list of notables who will figure in the opening ceremonies, featured, according to time-honored custom, by formal parades, floral tokens and the hoisting of flags.

The president, who saw the Philadelphia Athletics clinch the world's series in the final game last October, will be on hand to watch Connie Mack's champions start the defense of their title against the Washington Senators, generally regarded as the outstanding rival of the A's for the American league honors this year.

TOP FIGURE.

There will be no special attraction, except for the annual debut of the one and only Babe Ruth, but the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox expect to draw an opening day crowd of 50,000 to the Yankee stadium. This was the top figure in advance estimates for all the openings.

More than 40,000, including Commissioner Landis, may see Roger Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs start the National league campaign against the Pittsburgh Pirates at Wrigley field, Chicago.

This array brings together two of the five clubs picked to wage a merry scramble for the championship now held by the St. Louis Cardinals, who play the Reds at Cincinnati.

John Arnold Heydler, president of the National league, planned to see the New York Giants open the season at Philadelphia, while the rampaging Brooklyn Robins journeyed to Boston to trade heavy wallop with the Braves.

WESTERN TILTS.

The Detroit Tigers will play the Browns at St. Louis, featuring a southpaw duel between Earl Whitehill and Walter Stewart, while the Chicago White Sox oppose the Indians at Cleveland in a game involving two "dark horse" contenders for American league honors.

Nearly a score of newcomers will be closely watched as they trot out on the field tomorrow to repeat their regular jobs. With the exception of the Athletics and Washington in the American league, the Cardinals and Cubs in the National league, every club has rearranged its lineup for the 1931 campaign.

While standing pat on their regular lineups, the Cardinals and Athletics, outstanding favorites to repeat their 1930 pennant victories, both have strengthened their pitching prospects by acquiring sensational youngsters. Cards, however, have stepped up to the barrier temporarily without the services of their slugging outfielder, Chick Hafey, the last of the holdouts.

Georgia Golfers To Face Davidson

ATHENS, Ga., April 13.—Georgia golf team, the team captain, will meet the Davidson College four here Tuesday afternoon in its third match of the year.

None of the Georgia team's members are letter men, and for that reason the boys have been unable to elect a captain this season. Maurice Soule is coach. The team has broken even in two previous matches, having defeated Emory and lost to Florida.

The Georgia freshman baseball team will open its 1931 season here Tuesday afternoon with Madison A. & M. furnishing the opposition down on Sanford field.

All Right, Johnny, Let's Go Get 'Em!

Johnny Dobbs, shown above as he'll appear to the Lookouts when he sends his Crackers out to open the Southern league season at Chattanooga today, is marshalling a strong club for the campaign. The Crackers have been picked almost unanimously for the flag. Johnny Dobbs doesn't care so much for that, but he's ready to go. So are his boys. They'll be hard to beat in this race to the championship.

Tennessee City Dons Carnival Garb; Pitching Choices in Doubt.

By Ralph McGill,

Staff Correspondent.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 13. Chattanooga expects to throw off the covers about dawn in the morning to give a series of mad shrieks, and go out to the ball park where the Lookouts and the Atlanta Crackers meet at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Society editors would say that the old town is agog with excitement. It is more than that. It is mad with it. The Crackers arrived by bus from Atlanta about about supper time this afternoon and were started to hear bombs exploding in the street and from the roof tops of the buildings along Market street, which is the main street, as the boys say.

JUST A MOR.

The Crackers thought that perhaps the reds had captured the city. It was just a mob of Chattanooga fans, some 3,000 people walking and riding in an old-fashioned parade.

The bombs were bursting in air, the rockets were casting a red glare and everything was quite disorderly with the American madness that is to be found around opening day in a city where baseball is taken seriously.

The parade was the first of the big features which will mark the opening of the season and drag the spectators out to the benches in the park. More than 15,000 witnessed the Crackers and the Lookouts play last season. More than 16,000 are expected out Tuesday, Chattanooga, if the Chamber of Commerce will pardon me, is just the right size to get 'em together and put things on with the whole blame town helping out. The hard times in evidence around the ball lot tomorrow will be hard times fans will have getting into the park.

BERT FRETS.

Out at Engel stadium Monday afternoon Bertram Niehoff, the experienced, was found sitting in a comfortable chair, hugging one knee and looking a bit worried. The deal with your Uncle Wilbert Robinson for Max Rosenfeld, whom Atlanta fans will remember, blew up right in Chattanooga's face. The Lookouts were to get him.

Bert Niehoff said his outfield looked good. An unprejudiced observer would say that with two Class B men in it, the Lookout outfield defense might not go so well. There must have been some reason for all the sweat about Max Rosenfeld. Still, he would help anyone make the best of a bad job.

The Lookouts will have a fat boy named Babe Phelps, who can really hit; and Leo Burns, a lad from the coast, as the two "B" men in the outfield. Phelps led the Piedmont league last year and has been hitting well down here. His fielding average with Hagerstown was a neat, well-rounded 1.000 percentage. Ray Treadway, who was tried out for third base, was moved out to complete the outfield.

FELIX ON HAND.

Gus Felix, of Boston player, may start in the outfield if they get worried here about the two rookies.

Harley Boss, a good first baseman, and Wes Kindon, a smart shortstop, are the two mainstays of the infield. McLeod and Latzke are to be used at third. Bert would likely like to use both of them there at one time and the same time, neither of them having looked so well this spring.

Wally Dashiell, a dependable second baseman, will hold that position. Dixie Davis, Hansel Hulvey or Clyde Barfoot will pitch. They are all right-handers. Hulvey and Barfoot are the two most favored. This afternoon Niehoff was sure it would be Hulvey. Tomorrow he may be sure of Barfoot. Managers are a little bit punk drunk when the opening day comes around. All of them.

Ed Doherty, who is the receiving last year, will be a smart man with pitchers.

MOUND POWER.

The main strength of the Chattanooga ball club seems to be its pitching. One can't tell until they get into the actual schedule, the spring games do not set how the Crackers cut it worse than third this season and they might win, if they have the breaks. I look for our toughest opposition to come from Memphis, Birmingham and Little Rock.

L. W. (Chip) Robert, president of the Crackers, says:

"We believe that we have a club capable of winning a pennant and certainly one that will be right up there in the race. We have every confidence in Manager Johnny Dobbs. We look forward to a season highly successful in every way."

down in front when the games are counted in September.

The Athletics open the American league race in Washington and this game matching as it does the two most strongly favored clubs may be called the feature act of the day. President Hoover will pitch the first ball.

Chicago opens at Cleveland, Detroit starts at St. Louis and Boston opens at New York in the other games in the younger organization.

The Dodgers begin play in Boston. Pittsburgh plays Chicago, St. Louis in Cincinnati and New York in Philadelphia.

SEEKS ATTENDANCE CUP. Nothing out bad weather can keep a tremendous crowd from seeing the Crackers open against Chattanooga Thursday. All records for advance ticket sales have been broken already. Indications are that the old habit of winning opening day attendance cups is about to be resumed.

Governor-elect Dick Russell and W. L. (Young) Stripling will form the battery to open the season properly. Governor Russell used to fling the baseball hat in the air when he was in college at Athens and Young Stripling was a catcher at Lanier High school, Macon. The opening day act should be a creditable achievement, then.

President John D. Martin, of the Southern league, will be on hand to see that the season is launched in due form. And the 15 millionaires who own the Crackers will form an inspiring background.

MARINES ON HAND.

A detail of United States marines will officiate at the flag raising. There will be a band, too. And no telling what else.

No need to ask where to buy tickets for the occasion. Try and avoid it. A dozen or more beautiful girl canvassers are touring office buildings and stores downtown purveying pastebases as fast as they can make change.

Many institutions have declared a half holiday for their employees. The city hall is the exception. There, however, those who work for the city, as well as those who work elsewhere, will prove eloquent at inventing excuses to be on hand.

The game here will be started at 3 o'clock.

EQUIPOISE WINS IN SPRING DEBUT

BALTIMORE, Md., April 13.—(P) C. V. Whitely's Equipoise, future book favorite to win the Prekness and the Kentucky Derby, made his three-year-old debut today, winning the six-furlong feature at Havre de Grace. The Whitelys are expected to repeat the distance in the fast time of 1:11 3-5 to defeat George D. Widener's Panetia by three lengths.

Arthur (Slim) Robertson rode the winner. Although asked to carry the heavy impost of 125 pounds, Equipoise swept past his field at the half mile post and won under double wraps.

The large charity day crowd, remembering Equipoise's great juvenile record, made him the prohibitive favorite, a $2 mutual ticket returning only $2.50.

RIVERSIDE GETS PREP NET MEET

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 13.—Riverside Military Academy has been awarded the 1931 Southern Intercollegiate Tennis championship. It was announced Monday by Captain James K. Mooney, director of tennis at Riverside.

Dates for the tournament have been set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 7, 8 and 9. The tourney has received the sanction of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Winners will be eligible for the national boys and junior tournaments to be held later in the season.

In anticipation of the large number of players who will seek entrance into the interscholastic tournament, a list setting forth entrance regulations has been prepared and will be sent to any school making application to Riverside. Arrangements have been made with one of the local hotels whereby special rates are offered visiting players and coaches.

Jack Mooney, well-known southern tennis player, will serve as official referee and will be in charge of the tournament pairings.

Riverside's nine clay courts will be available for use during the progress of the tournament.

Gar Wood's Trial Again Postponed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 13.—(P)—Continued cross winds brought announcement from Gar Wood late today that he would postpone his attempt to set a new world's speed boat record in the Miss America IX until tomorrow.

Wood said he would be ready to take his boat to the measured mile course in Indian creek early tomorrow if the wind abated during the night.

Four Changes Made In Cast of Managers

Even Debutants, However, Have Been in Southern League Before.

Four changes have been made in the managerial cast of the Southern league since the opening day of the 1930 season. Although they are familiar in the league, two managers will be starting their first season. Harry Strohm, at Little Rock, and Joe Klugman, at Nashville, who graduated from the player ranks last season, are the debutants. Strohm, a third baseman on the team, succeeded Jack Steele at the helm of the Travelers late last season but this season really will be his first test as a manager. Klugman, who last season played third for the Vols, succeeded Clarence Rowland.

Bert Niehoff, at Chattanooga, returns to the league managerial ranks after an absence of two years. It will be his seventh season as a manager in the league and he succeeded Bill Rogers.

Milton Stock, at Mobile, also comes back after an absence of two years. He previously managed the Mobile club three seasons. Stock succeeds Jimmy Hamilton, former owner and manager.

John Gordon Dobbs, at Atlanta, dean of the managers, will be starting his 23rd year as manager in the same league and his second as the boss of the Crackers.

In the wake of Larry Gilbert, at New Orleans, are eight years of service as manager of his home team, the only team he ever managed.

FOURTH FOR "DOC." James Thompson "Doc" Prothro is setting out on his fourth year as manager of his home team, Memphis, the only team he ever managed.

Clyde Milan is starting his second season at Birmingham and his fifth in the league. He managed the Memphis team three seasons.

Four of the managers have experienced the thrill and success of winning pennants. Dobbs has piloted five pennant winners and for three dif-

CHICKS RETURN FIVE PLAYERS TO LEAD LIST

Vols Have None, Crackers and Marines One Each.

Many things can happen in a year and happen they did in 1930. Of the 72 ball players who trotted out on Southern league fields for the four opening battles last year, only 18 will start today when the 1931 campaign opens. That is an even more drastic change than prevailed in 1930 when 21 of the 1929 starters took their posts. Of course, in several instances players have switched clubs since the 1930 start and will be on hand today, but they are considered new players, since they began with different teams in 1930.

The Memphis Chicks, who won the pennant in 1930, will trot out to battle Little Rock at Russellwood park today with five players from the initial 1930 lineup. That is the strongest return of any Southern entry and causes one to wonder why the Chicks are not favorites to repeat. Doc Prothro could open with six of his 1930 starters if he chose to send Lefty Clarence Griffin to the hill, but he has picked Walter Beck. The 1930 players returning are Prothro, Bragill, Jeanes, Williams and Hutcherson.

ONLY JACK. Jack Sheehan, veteran Atlanta second baseman, is the only 1930 starter scheduled to open today. And strange

BY KNUTE ROCKNE HIS LIFE STORY

In this series of 18 articles, of which this is the thirteenth, the great Notre Dame football coach, whose untimely death in an airplane accident March 31 shocked the nation, tells of the adventures and people he met in his eventful course from Voss, in Norway, to the middle western university which he helped to make famous. It is an exciting story—the saga of Knute Rockne. It is his own life story and will appear exclusively in The Constitution daily until it is completed. There will be much written about Rockne. This is Rockne's own story, written by Rockne.

By Knute Rockne. INSTALLMENT 13.

SCOUTING—and the tricks of the trade—work both ways. Two years ago many Notre Dame enthusiasts wondered why our forward pass game was not very much in evidence. I knew, although ill in bed, that they were scouting all our major games—and we won all of the earlier ones without the pass. That was kept under cover until we met Southern California. Their scouts reported that Notre Dame's pass game was of no consequence. But we completed five long passes that won that game.

So, too—again earlier in my acquaintance with what scouting can do to fool both friend and foe—in 1921 we played exceptionally orthodox football. For a purpose. Our leading opponent was the Army, which believed that its scouts reported—that our game was strictly orthodox. This, in turn, meant that we would follow the rules that guide smart teams and never dream of passing in our own territory. When the Army halfbacks, observing our orthodox game, stayed up to the line of scrimmage, they remained there once too long. Castner, fullback, faked a line plunge, but instead the quarterback passed the ball to Mohardt, who shot it 40 yards to Kiley, who raced 30 yards through unoccupied territory for a touchdown.

And while scouting has brought me—as it brings every coach—disappointments, I've had valuable tips that helped to win games. In 1924 we learned through the scout route that Carnegie Tech had adopted a man-to-man defense, and that the center, fullback, left halfback and quarter were fast runners. Their right half was a grand blocker, but a slow runner. Play during the first half verified all this. So Crowley was sent into the defensive right halfback's territory, where he ran him ragged all afternoon, catching all the passes Stubliedreher sent his way.

FOOTBALL science has a place for legitimate scouting, just as it has a place for psychology; but where the emphasis is overlaid these by-issues of the game defeat their own ends. Really, the thing that is wrong with scouting is the word "scouting." I suggest that in its stead we use the word "research" or as it might better be defined—the making of every game a football clinic. Everybody in every game is interested in what others do with it, especially when those others are future opponents at the game.

When scouting is done over and above board, and one school announces it will have an official representative to see a public exhibition by another school, we all know where we stand. Then there can be no innuendo that there was secret scouting, spying or other betrayal.

GRADS GROW. About the biggest job any coach has on his hands is to take alumni enthusiasm and put it into right channels—to curb, for example, the zealous alumnus.

When we played Indiana a few seasons back, it was hard going. The game should have been easily won, if comparative scores in past games meant anything—and as a rule, they don't. But the Indiana boys, to their credit, were hardly winning. Sensing the loss of this annual game, the Notre Dame team stiffened and we managed to squeeze through with a touchdown victory.

It seemed to be an occasion for rejoicing at the banquet following the game—which turned out to be one of the hardest-won victories on any of our schedules. I observed, however, that a few alumni at the dinner were anything but elated. Making inquiries I learned that these old grads had made considerable bets to the effect that their old school would win by at least three or four touchdowns. This was confirmed by the growlings of some of the disappointed gamblers.

CUTTING DOWN. When they called upon me for a speech that night, the boys got one. I was bristling, and I fear, laid into those inconsiderate chaps with a vehemence that shocked them. They were reminded that boys who went on the gridiron and gave the best there was in them were entitled to better than money support. It didn't add to the harmony of the occasion; but it provided one fine chance for one coach to do what at some time or other every coach would like to do—put the gamblers in their places.

With the old grads and the neighbors, the coach must build good will for the benefit of his team. It's fatal to high-hat the people of the community where the school is located. Accept the support of Rotary, Kiwanis and the rest—they provide a background of enthusiasm which is bound to inspire the players. And welcome criticism.

No matter if the fans are alumni, neighbors or just plain customers at the gates, they seem to like bigger and better scores. For my part, I'm for it.

PETRELS BEAT AUBURN, 8 TO 3; JACKETS LOSE

Gators Beat Tech, 8-6; Georgia Victor Over Mercer, 8-7.

AUBURN, Ala., April 13.—Ray Walker's effective pitching and some heavy stickwork in the early innings gave the Oglethorpe baseball team an 8-to-3 victory over the Auburn Tigers here today.

The victory gave the Petrels a chance to go into a tie with Auburn for the leadership of the Dixie College league. The Petrels will have to win tomorrow to tie the Tigers.

Walker dominated the game except in one inning, the fourth, when hits by Riley, Kaley and Grant, and an error by Golden in center field gave Auburn her only runs of the game. Walker aided the cause in the eighth inning when he hit a home run.

The Petrels started scoring early in the game and were not checked up until Sam Grubbs was sent to the showers, and Clarence West went on the mound for Auburn. The Petrels got only two hits and one run off West.

Auburn threatened to score in the seventh when Hodges knocked a single and Hitchcock and Burt were passed. Walker bore down and struck out Pate, made West pop up to the catcher, and then Jordan ended the threat by hitting a fly to left field.

Jackets Bow To 'Gators, 8 to 6.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., April 13.—Florida's Alligators defeated Georgia Tech, one of their bitterest enemies, today, 8 to 6, in the first two games series being played here.

It was a wild game marked by frequent errors for both sides at critical points of the contest.

In the first inning the 'Gators pushed across four runs and repeated in the fifth. The eighth run was seriously threatened in the seventh when the Yellow Jackets found Toffaletti's weakness and started a batting rally that carried right on into the eighth inning. They bagged six runs before Coach Brady Cowell rushed in Al Rogers, the 'Gators' sophomore hurler, who halted the attack by striking out three men in succession.

Both teams executed double plays. Hendy Henderson, Georgia Tech

Darlington Beats U.S.B. Tennis Team

Darlington school, of Rome, defeated University School for Boys' tennis team, 4 to 2, Monday afternoon on the Capital City Club courts in their third straight victory of the year. Darlington won the southern prep title last year.

In the singles matches, Hoyt, of Darlington, defeated Morris, of University, 6-1, 6-0; Grier, of Darlington, defeated Arnold, of University, 6-1, 6-0. Boynton and Asher scored the only two points for University with victories over Nixon and Bell, of Darlington. Boynton won, 6-1, 10-5, and Asher won out, 6-4, 6-4. In the doubles matches Hoyt and Nixon defeated Boynton and Morris, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, and Grier and Bell defeated Asher and Harris, 6-4, 7-5.

Jacket Net Squad Faces Tide Today

Georgia Tech's tennis team will open its 1931 card at 9 o'clock this morning on the Tech courts with the University of Alabama netmen as opponents. The match was scheduled to be held Saturday afternoon but was postponed due to wet courts. Alabama defeated Birmingham Southern, 5 to 1, in its opener and came back with a 4-2 victory over Emory University Friday afternoon. Members of the Tide net team will include Captain Simpson, Cone, Little and Shafer. The Tech team has not been named.

Jacket Lacrosse Squad Plans Trip

Georgia Tech's lacrosse team will leave the city at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on an eastern invasion that will end Monday at Annapolis, Md. The Jackets meet the University of Virginia Thursday in Charlottesville, the Naval Academy at Annapolis on Saturday and St. Johns college Monday in Annapolis.

As yet, an elimination tournament to pick the team has been under way for several weeks, but definite selection of the players will not be made until today.

SPONSORS AND MAIDS ELECTED FOR VETERANS' REUNION

Atlantans Will Represent John B. Gordon Camp, S.C.V.

Miss Laura Whitner, beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Whitner, has been chosen by the officers and members of the John B. Gordon Camp No. 46, Sons of Confederate Veterans, to act as sponsor at the Confederate reunion to be held June 3 to 5, in Montgomery, Ala. Atlanta will be well represented by a number of charming young belles and matrons at the reunion, which is an annual event of patriotic and social importance to southern society, other representatives to include: Misses Jaquelin Moore, Ellen Fleming and Elizabeth Perdue, who will act as maids; Miss Betty Bang, as page; Mrs. Caspar Whitner, as patron of honor, and Mrs. Paul Lamar Fleming, as chaperon for Camp John B. Gordon. They will also serve for the ensuing year. Each year interest centers in the election of members of the society who are, by position and birth, deserving of these honors. Misses Whitner, Fleming and Perdue are students at Washington Seminary and Miss Moore is a graduate of this fashionable school.

Miss Whitner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Whitner and the granddaughter of John A. Whitner. Her forbears among Civil War heroes were Major John C. Whitner, a member of the staff of General Howell Cobb, her great-uncle, who was president of the provisional congress. She is a great-niece of General Thomas R. Cobb, who was an important figure at the battle of Fredericksburg. On her maternal side she is the great-niece of General Allison Nelson and Colonel L. P. Grant, the donor of the city park that name. Her paternal grandfather, J. C. Kirkpatrick, entered the war at the age of 15, just before the close.

Miss Moore Honored.

Miss Moore, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, is the granddaughter of Captain Harry Jackson on her maternal side. She numbers among her distinguished ancestors General Thomas R. Cobb and General Henry R. Jackson, her great-grandfathers, and General Howell Cobb, who is her great-uncle. W. A. Moore, her paternal grandfather, was unable to take an active part in the war because of illness.

A descendant of a line of southern aristocracy, Miss Ellen Fleming is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lamar Fleming and the granddaughter of Abner Fleming, who was third corporal of the fifteenth regiment of Georgia Volunteer infantry in north Virginia. Her maternal grandfather was George Carter Hall, who at the age of 16 bravely enlisted in the service artillery, Lumpkin's battery, under General Joseph E. Johnston. She is the great-niece of John Denning Daniel, a member of the fifteenth regiment, and of Captain Wilberforce Daniel, of Augusta, who was in the first Georgia regiment.

Prominent relatives of Miss Perdue also took part in the War Between the States. Her grandfather, Jackson Graham, was too young to enlist until near the end of the war, but three of her great-uncles, Major Robert Graham, Lieutenant Henry S. Graham and Corporal Hampton W. Graham, took an active part in the war.

Betty Bang, the page, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bang of South Chandler street, Decatur.

Mrs. Bang was formerly Miss Lillie Harmsen and the little girl is the great-granddaughter of Carl Harmsen, pioneer citizen of Atlanta and a beloved Confederate veteran.

Child's Home Circle.

The April meeting of Circle No. 4 of the Atlanta Child's Home was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. L. Goodman, of North Avenue. The ladies assisting were Mrs. J. R. Vance and Mrs. C. F. Griffin. Plans were discussed for the children's happiness. The May meeting will be held May 3 at home of Mrs. E. A. Long at 1082 St. Charles place. Those assisting will be Mrs. E. L. Withrow and Mrs. V. R. Patton.

Rice will be hostess at a small dinner party at her home on Peachtree road in compliment to Mrs. Matthews. Thursday Mrs. Francis Block will entertain at a small luncheon in honor of this visitor from the national capital, the guests to include a few close friends of the honor guest. Other affairs to be given in compliment to Mrs. Matthews will be announced later.

Shrine To Hold Tacky Party Next Friday

Yaarab Temple's "Rube Band" will be a feature of the Shrine "tacky party" to be held in the Egyptian ballroom of the Mosque Friday evening, April 17. The affair is being held for the benefit of the Mosque house furnishing fund and will be open to the public, according to announcement by members of Yaarab's house committee. The dance will be staged under the direction of Noble James W. Battle, chairman of Yaarab's dance committee. Dancing will continue from 9 o'clock until midnight. Dancers may come informal or in "tacky" costume. Prizes will be awarded those in the most original dress.

The "Rube Band," long famous in Shrine circles, is composed of members of Yaarab's "Million-Dollar" band, all excellent musicians. They burlesque the old-time village band and will make their appearance during the intermission of the dance.

Tickets can be purchased in the lounge room of the Mosque, or from members of the uniformed organizations, or at several downtown cigar stands.

Businesswomen Meet.

The monthly luncheon of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Atlanta will be held at the Piedmont hotel, Wednesday, April 15, from 12 to 1 o'clock. Miss Letta Thompson, president, will preside, and Miss Anna Wooten, luncheon chairman, will have charge of the program, which will be informal.

Delegates planning to go to the convention of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, in Augusta, April 20-21, are requested to be present, as plans for attendance will be discussed.

The parliamentary class will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the club rooms on Forrest avenue. Mrs. J. W. Willis, instructor, will preside. New members are invited to be present and join the class.

Junior League Jottings

MRS. REGINALD FLEET, Editor

The dog show held by the Kennel Club of Atlanta on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week was a splendid success. It realized a good sum for the Junior League ward in the Eggleston Memorial hospital and as well provided a showing of some wonderfully fine dogs to interested Atlantans.

A number of Junior League entries won prizes in the show. Miss Catherine Erwin's Cairn terrier, Fiddown Thistle, won first place in the "American bred bitches" in the Cairn class as well as winning "best of breed" and three points to championship in its first show. Three other Cairns from Miss Erwin's kennels, Craigwood Gilad, Fiddown Heather and Placewood Gyp, won blue ribbons in their classes.

Fan Tan, the Pekinese of Mrs. Oliver Healey, won first prize in all of the classes in which it was entered and won "best of breed" in the Pekinese class. In the variety class of toy dogs judged on Wednesday night Mrs. Healey's dog won third place, the first and second places going to champion dogs.

Mrs. Robert Woodruff's Schnauzer, Woodruff's Rigo, won a blue ribbon in the "limit dogs" class.

Miss Catherine Erwin's Pomeranian, Lindy, won first in the "limit dogs" of this class and her Chocolate Bar won second.

Mrs. Edwin Peeples' Brookhaven Shook won a blue ribbon in the "novice dogs" in the Airedale class as well as a first place in the "local dogs" of this class.

Mrs. William Huger's Billy Boy's Nero, a St. Bernard, won a blue ribbon in the St. Bernard class, and also won "best of breed."

Mrs. Langdon Quinn's Timrod won all the ribbons in the French bulldog class.

Mrs. Carl Ramspeck's Great Dane Dan won "best of breed" in its class. The awards of the judges of the show were presented by Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., the president of the Atlanta Junior League.

The redistribution of Region IV, of the Association of Junior Leagues, of which the Atlanta Junior League is a member, has been deferred for one year. At that time Atlanta will present its candidate for regional director, Miss Margaret Nelson, who was the unanimous choice of the Atlanta Junior League.

For the present Mrs. John Pratt, of New Orleans, will continue to serve as director. Since taking office Mrs. Pratt has visited Richmond, Chattanooga, Norfolk, Columbus, Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, Tampa, Jacksonville, Augusta, Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Lynchburg and Roanoke to inspect the work of the Junior Leagues in these cities. She has planned to visit the other leagues in this region before the Cincinnati conference. Mrs. Pratt has proven a real leader for the Junior Leagues in her region.

The following new Junior Leagues have been admitted to the Association of Junior Leagues: Elmira, N. Y.; Mobile, Ala., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Junior League's children's theater bureau publishes a booklet, "Players and Puppets," which brings to the Junior League members the news of the dramatic activities of the Junior Leagues. The booklet is edited by Mrs. Helen Adams, chairman of the theater bureau. Any member of the league interested in the work of this bureau may be put on the mailing list of the bureau by writing to Miss Adams.

The Birmingham Junior League has given a number of marionette plays, "The Wizard of Oz," "Pinochio," "Snow White" and "Little Red Riding Hood."

The Columbus (Ohio) Junior League produced "Pinochio" on an elaborate scale, one of the high spots of this show being a puppet clown band. This league gives a dress rehearsal performance for charity in the theater in which the regular performance is to be held.

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Junior League inaugurated its marionette career with A. A. Milne's "The King of the Bees." They presented their play for the first time at a meeting of their league and then gave several performances for children. Their next play was a successful performance of "Punch and Judy." In February they presented "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves."

Every league using marionette production as their form of dramatic entertainment for children finds the marionette a most stimulating piece of material. A number of leagues are experimenting in this field. Omaha has developed miniature marionettes and are using the simplest of backdrops and costumes. Their idea is that the big marionettes are growing to look more and more like real people and to act more and more like real

Mr. and Mrs. Kline Hosts to Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Straus and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Straus, of New York city, will arrive this week to spend a few days in the city and will be entertained at a round of delightful social affairs.

Thursday evening, April 16, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Kline will be hosts at a dinner party at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, complementing this attractive group of visitors. Invited to meet the honor guests will be a congenial group of friends of the hosts.

Mrs. Cox Weds Henry A. Carr

Thomas B. Cox, of Atlanta, announces the marriage of his mother, Mrs. Leah G. Cox, of LaGrange, Ga., to Henry Asbury Carr, of Baton Rouge, La., formerly of LaGrange, La. The marriage was a quiet event of Saturday, April 11, taking place in the New Orleans, La., at the First Baptist church. The pastor, Dr. John A. Huff, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended in a smart blue suit of crepe with accessories to match. Her corsage bouquet was of Ophelia roses and valley lilies.

After spending several days in New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Carr will make their home in Baton Rouge, La. Mr. Carr is connected with the Rockwood Stone Company. He and his bride will reside at 831 North street, Baton Rouge, La.

Chi Omega Tea.

Mrs. William Kent Lowmerry was hostess at a lovely tea yesterday at her apartment in the Saint Andrews at West Peachtree street, honoring the members of the Chi Omega Sorority at Oglethorpe University.

Assisting the hostess in the entertainment of the guests was Miss Eugenia Patterson, president of the sorority. Included on the guest list were members of the sorority, of which Mrs. Lowmerry was recently invited to become patroness.

Matrons' Club.

The 1930 Matrons' Club, O. E. S., meets Thursday at 12 o'clock in Rich's tea room. Members are urged to be present.

actors, while they wish in their miniature marionettes to give the impression of real toys come to life.

Since Chi Omega is also endeavoring to do something different with marionettes, they are featuring animal puppets, developing the idea which children often have, "What would an animal look like if it were dressed as a human being?" With this idea in mind they presented a musical fantasy, a flower, animal and bug tea party which delighted the children and the grown-ups.

From all this activity, this interest in marionette production, something interesting and unusual is bound to develop.

In "Players and Puppets" was an account of the Atlanta Junior League Marionettes written by Mrs. Lawrence Willet.

A Discovery

That Banishes Chafing and Discomfort from Women's Hygiene

A New and Totally Different Sanitary Protection. Pure RAYON Cellulose Filtered

Soft and Gentle as Fluffed Silk And—Effective 3 Times Longer

THERE is now a sanitary pad that cannot chafe or irritate. A new and remarkable invention that changes all previous ideas of sanitary protection.

It is new and totally different from any other pad now known or ever known. New in construction. New in material. New in results. Hence, one cannot compare it with any other hygienic protection so far known.

A U. S. Patented Invention—Not Merely "Another" Sanitary Pad

It is called Veldown. And rigidly protected under United States Patents, there is no other pad "like" it—or even remotely like it. It is made in an entirely different way from any you have ever used.

Its filter is superlative soft, pure RAYON cellulose. Thus is as gentle as fluffed silk.

Its patented construction—along with its RAYON cellulose filter—eliminates all chafing, all discomfort from wearing a sanitary pad.

Every woman will know what this means

5 Or More Times More Absorbent

Another feature—Veldown is absolutely impermeable. For the outside has been specially treated to make it moisture proof and impenetrable. This innovation makes Veldown 5 or more times more absorbent—so it gives COMPLETE SAFETY and protection. LONGER than other sanitary methods. And no other protective garments are necessary!

Special treatment with a powerful deodorant ends even the slightest danger of embarrassment. Discards, of course, easily as tissue.

Go today to any drug or department store. Obtain a box of Veldown. Use six. Then—if you don't feel that it is a Vast and Great Improvement on any other pad you have ever worn, return box—and receive your full purchase price back. FOR EVERY WOMAN

Mrs. W. P. Dunn Is Nominated For Woman's Club President

Mrs. W. P. Dunn, prominent member of the Atlanta Woman's Club, whose name was presented by the nominating committee for the next president of the Atlanta Woman's Club at the meeting held yesterday, the election to take place at the meeting Monday, May 11, with other officers submitted yesterday by the nominating committee. Photograph by Bascom Biggers.

Mrs. W. P. Dunn was named as the choice of the nominating committee for the next president of the Atlanta Woman's Club by Mrs. George L. Turner, chairman of the committee, at yesterday's meeting held at the clubhouse on Peachtree street. Other nominees for officers submitted by the nominating committee include Mrs. Victor Kreighbaum, first vice president; Mrs. Otis Poundstone, second vice president; Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh, third vice president; Mrs. D. R. Wilder, treasurer; Mrs. James A. Greene, assistant treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Whitehead, recording secretary; Mrs. C. E. Faust, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. W. A. Robertson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James T. Williams, auditor.

Members of the nominating committee included Mrs. George Turner, chairman; Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, Mrs. E. V. Carter, Mrs. Walter A. Sims and Miss Virginia Hall. As there were no nominations from the floor, the report of the committee was accepted unanimously and will be posted two weeks before the meeting Monday, May 11, on which day the nominees will be elected and will assume office immediately.

Program Presented. Mrs. Mary Faust presented Miss Helen Coyne Riley at yesterday's meeting, who sang a group of modern Spanish numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Chalmers. The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Howard McCutcheon, chairman of public welfare. Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney, who was introduced by Mrs. McCutcheon, spoke on narcotics, tracing the history of narcotics through the legislation before and after the Harrison narcotic act, which was passed in 1914.

He stated that previous to that time there was no federal control of the drug traffic whatsoever, but that since 1914 rapid strides have been made toward the control and distribu-

Mr. and Mrs. Beall Arrive in City

Of cordial interest to a host of friends in the city is the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Beall, from Chicago, Ill., last Sunday for an indefinite stay in Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Beall are the guests of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gilmore, at their home on Barnett street, and they will be entertained at a series of interesting informal parties during their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Beall formerly resided in Atlanta and made their home at the Georgian Terrace hotel. They were popular figures in the social life of the city, and they will receive a cordial welcome from a wide circle of friends here. Mrs. Beall is a notably beautiful woman and her departure for Chicago about a year ago was the occasion of deep regret among members of the city society. Mr. Beall is a leader in financial and business circles.

Coterie Club Play.

Members of the Jewish Progressive Club and their parents witnessed David Pinkus's famous play, "The Last Jew," presented by the Coterie Club Sunday evening.

Under expert direction of Mrs. Mabel G. Foster the Coterie players, for the most part composed of boys and girls in their adolescence, gave an artistic performance in the special hall of the Jewish Progressive Club.

The cast of players included: Misses Ozna Tontak, Rosalie Hirsch and Sarah Glustrom and Messrs. Ned Cohen, Meyer Levy, Louis Bercheusko, Simon Wender, Nace Cohen, Joe Blass, Oscar Fineroff, Leonard Greenbaum, Max Rittenbaum and Edward R. Vajda, stage manager.

Piano Recital.

Miss Laura Daniel presented pupils from her piano class in the first of a series of Sunday afternoon recitals at 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Howard Parker, at South Gordon street.

These recitals are given especially for the fathers and mothers. A group of juvenile members gave the highlights in musical history. Those on the program were: Margaret Sutherland, Frances Guest, Olga Hamilton, Jane Dobbs, John Sean, Virginia Kirby, Gwendolyn Ragan, Jane Jordan, Len Duggan, Billy Foster, Celeste Long, Joyce Parker, Helen Norman, Frances Parker and Elaine Hill.

Another group of pupils will give a program at Hillside Cottage Sunday, April 19, at 4 o'clock.

Phi Pi Club.

Miss Eugenia Snow and Miss Margaret Walker will entertain the Phi Pi Club Wednesday at 3 o'clock at their home, 287 Seventeenth street.

$85,000 DORMITORY TO BE BUILT AT TECH

Plans for a new dormitory building at Georgia Tech, consisting of three stories and basement, have been completed by Bush-Brown, Galley & Associates, of the Tech architectural department, and bids for construction will be received April 23, officials have announced. The new structure, to be called Cloudman dormitory, will cost approximately $85,000 and work will begin as soon as the contract has been let, it was stated.

Located on the campus next to the dining hall, the new building will be L shaped, its front measuring 80 feet and the wing extending back 100 feet to Williams street. It is intended principally for the accommodation of co-operative students, though others will be admitted, and its capacity is about 120 persons. The architecture will be English collegiate to correspond with neighboring buildings and the addition will greatly improve the block between North avenue and Third street.

Club Renovated. Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, chairman of auditorium, and Miss Mary Cayce, co-chairman, called attention to the renovating of the club auditorium and stated that the new powder blue velvet draperies will be hung in the near future. They also told of the mammoth bridge party to be given Tuesday, April 14, at 2:30 o'clock at the clubhouse and urged all to attend.

Mrs. Otis Poundstone introduced S. P. Hughes, who spoke briefly of the Goodrich safety pledge movement for motorists and received the hearty endorsement of the club.

Dr. Frank Eskridge spoke of the advisability of new maternity quarters at Grady hospital and asked the aid of the club members in sponsoring and assisting in this much needed movement.

Plans for refinancing the club were explained and full power to close these arrangements were given to the finance committee.

It was announced that Master Fred Lesh Jacobs, Jr., the young one-month-old grandson of the president, Mrs. Thornton M. Fincher, has accepted his election as mascot of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Miss Margaret Eakes received with Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Spier. Miss Susan Gardner, Miss Emmaline Stone, Mrs. Frank Eakes, and Mrs. Ray King assisted in entertaining.

Green and white was the color motif, with dogwood and spruce used as decorations. Narcissus in a silver bowl formed the center piece of the tea table, the flowers encircled with silver candlesticks holding green tapers.

Mrs. Floyd Hostess.

Mrs. James Swann Floyd entertained at luncheon yesterday at her home on The Prado in compliment to Mrs. Alfred R. Swann, who was her guest for the day.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Emory Cocke assisted her mother in entertainment of the guests.

Mrs. Wolfe Elected President Of Boulevard Park Woman's Club

Mrs. Raymond H. Wolfe was elected president of the Boulevard Park Woman's Club at the meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Condon on Park drive. Other officers elected at the meeting were: Mrs. W. H. Smith, first vice president; Mrs. H. A. Agricola, second vice president; Mrs. J. N. Black, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. M. Williams, recording secretary; Mrs. H. T. Cox, treasurer, and Mrs. A. L. Myers, auditor.

Mrs. Wolfe succeeds Mrs. George W. Tumlin, the efficient president of the club for the past year, who presided at yesterday's meeting. During Mrs. Tumlin's administration the club has made remarkable progress along all lines of endeavor, and under her leadership has sponsored many undertakings of a worthwhile and charitable nature. The club membership devotes two entire days each month to sewing for the needlework guild, and recently sponsored a most successful Easter egg hunt for little patients at Hillside Cottages. Other organizations that have received benefit from the efforts of the club are the Community Chest, the Tallulah Falls school, the Home for Incubables, the Georgia blind and the World War Veterans.

Mrs. Wolfe brings to the presidency of the organization great executive ability and an earnest effort to further the club's program of achievement. She has taken an active interest in both local and state club work, having served as treasurer of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs.

The meeting yesterday was of social nature, a feature of which was the flower garden contest, with Mrs. H. M. Williams as prize winner. Fifty garments were reported as complete for the needlework guild.

FREE STATE MINISTER PRAISES JEFFERSON

UNIVERSITY, Va., April 13.—(AP) Michael MacWhite, minister from the Irish Free State to the United States, today said that Thomas Jefferson, through the spread of his political philosophy, was a major influence in the winning of Irish independence.

President Edwin A. Alderman introduced Mr. MacWhite, who delivered the Founding Day address at the University of Virginia, observing the 188th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson, who founded the institution 108 years ago.

"Irish blood and Irish brains have played such a part in American history," Mr. MacWhite said, "that a tender affection for the motherland does not interfere in the smallest degree with the most absolute loyalty to the United States. The history of our two countries has become so interwoven that affection for the one begets affection for the other."

"Since the days when Jefferson expounded his code of political philosophy, the whole world has become his pupil. The ideas of liberalism and democracy which he sowed on the virgin soil of America rapidly bloomed and spread to Europe, where by tender nourishment they grew and developed."

"The ideas gradually permeated the political life of England and became of your continual reiteration of them, English statesmen realized that the freedom of Ireland could not be withheld without losing the esteem and good will of the American people. The Irish themselves struggled and fought, but it was the weight of American sympathy that turned the scales in their favor."

"Progress of the Free State along social and economic lines since its establishment in 1921 formed the theme of the larger part of Mr. MacWhite's address."

THE DIFFERENCE TWO FEATHERS MADE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"Tis little things that often count, And in the end to much amount. —Old Mother Nature.

There is much of truth in that little saying. Things that seem mere trifles may completely change the course of events. There is no knowing what a small thing may amount to in the end.

Now the loss of a couple of feathers, even tail feathers, would seem to be a small matter, and ordinarily would be in the lives of the feathered folk. However, it wasn't so in the case of the handsome Plicker who was trying to win Mrs. Yellow Wing away from Yellow Wing. You know, Yellow Wing and his rival had been so intent on showing off before Mrs. Yellow Wing that they did not see Black Pussy stealing through the grass, and had it not been for the alarm given by Welcome Robin just in the nick of time, one of them or else Mrs. Yellow Wing certainly would have been caught. As it was, Black Pussy got two feathers. They were from the middle of the tail of Yellow Wing's rival.

Now, up to this time Mrs. Yellow Wing had been undecided in her own mind. This stranger certainly was a handsome fellow and he certainly did make efforts at dancing and showing off just as if nothing had happened. Mrs. Yellow Wing experienced a sudden and complete change of heart. The stranger put on just as many airs as before. He spread his wings and tail and nodded and bowed in his grandest manner, but his charm was gone. Yes, sir, his charm was gone. It went with those two tail feathers Black Pussy had pulled out. You see, now when he spread his tail, there, right in the middle, was a great gap. It was as if he had two tails, two small tails instead of one bigger one.

"How ridiculous he looks!" thought Mrs. Yellow Wing. "The idea of showing off such a looking tail as that! He should know better. He is absurd. That's what he is—absurd. Whatever did I see in him. I wonder. And he isn't as smart as Yellow Wing or he wouldn't have lost those feathers."

Of course, this wasn't quite fair on the part of Mrs. Yellow Wing, for it just happened that the rival was a bit nearer Black Pussy than was Yellow Wing. It was just his misfortune—that was all. However, Mrs. Yellow Wing didn't consider this. She turned her bright eyes on Yellow Wing. What a dear he was! How handsome and how very, very much in love! Her eyes softened. She nodded to him and moved over and touched him with her bill. Right then and there the stranger was completely forgotten by both Yellow Wing and Mrs. Yellow Wing, all on account of the loss of two feathers.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Every Woman of Ordinary Charm Thinks She Is Entitled to Marry a Man Who Has Looks and Brains and Money.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am a 33-year-old school teacher. I love my work, make a good salary, have a car to go about in and do pretty much as I please. But my desire is to marry a nice man, settle down to a home and family. I have had friends among the opposite sex but I have never met my soul mate. There isn't much social life for a girl my age in a country village. How does a girl go about satisfying the longing in her heart for a good husband and a home?

P. C.

ANSWER: Wouldn't it be fine to be able to tell all the women who ask it how they may go about finding suitable mates, men who would fill the bill titled to marry a man who is handsome, brainy and rich. Before she has gone very far she finds she has vastly overestimated her market value. She must then compromise or remain unmarried. Of course, she added that the men were probably having a similar experience.

A much admired and very pretty woman was once left a widow with five children. She announced her platform not long after her husband's death with this sentiment: "My husband convinced me that I was attractive enough to marry any man I wanted to; while he lived I believed it. Now that he is dead, I realize that I'm lucky if any man wants to marry me."

All of this is quoted to show you that if you expect to stay where you are you had better compromise on some of those "friends among the opposite sex" who are at hand asking for your hand or who are at least in a receptive mood toward you. "The soul mate" may be so far in the offing that you will never find him. In case these friends do not offer you the opportunity you crave and you do not want to try your hand in some other community, then you must look for your romance in some other department of life.

Avie D. Carlson has written a rather unique article called "Overworking Love." She deplores the tendency of the modern fiction and scenario writers to overemphasize the romance value of love. She proceeds to show that there are other roads to romance which one may take. Among them she mentions creative thinking, travel, religion, enthusiasm for a hobby, and, of course, cultivation of intellectual interests. From among these suggestions anyone can find food for thought and stimulation to ambition. The best part of it all is that any of them pursue the tendency to fit a woman better to play her part in the larger realm of marriage, if perchance she may realize her ambition.

You know that relatively speaking you are better off than many young women who must be self-supporting. You have congenial work, a salary big enough to make you independent, a car to ride around in and the liberty of doing what you please. That is not a small deal of life. But the best way to get what you want in life is to go after it. Nobody is as much interested in that particular pursuit as you are, nobody will work as hard to give you what you want as you will to get it. It is a perfectly legitimate ambition for a woman to want a good husband and a home. And she is perfectly justified in putting herself in the way of the man who can give her what she wants.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

'NEEDED' VITAMINS IN 49 CANNED FOODS

Forty-nine different canned foods have been reported to the American Chemical Society as supplying scientifically adequate amounts of vitamins A, B, C and D.

If this year's June brides will see that the new bride of the house gets out in the sunshine, they may safely feed him from cans so far as vitamins are concerned. Sunshine gives vitamin D (on cloudy days feed cod liver oil for D).

The other vitamins, says the report, are in the 49 cans "in adequate amounts." The report is made by Professor W. H. Eddy, of Teachers College of Columbia University; E. F. Kohnman, of the National Canners Association, and Celia Fall Gurin.

The canned menu might get by a honeymooner ethically, too. Here it is: Canned milk (every day); Roast beef, corned beef, tongue, pot pie, meat, chicken, lamb stew, corned beef hash, sausage and veal loaf.

Choice of 16 vegetables: Spinach, peas, string beans, tomatoes, tomato juice, wax beans, baked beans, beets, corn, lima beans, sweet potatoes, hominy, carrots, okra, turnip greens, and Brussels sprouts.

Fruits: Apples, peaches, apricots, cherries, pineapple, and apple sauce. Dessert: Canned plum pudding.

Also, canned brown bread, spaghetti, chicken a-la-king and mixed vegetables.

The tests were made on rats and guinea pigs. The rat experiments tested the equivalent of about 25 years of human life, which is one year for a rat, said Professor Eddy. This period carried the rodents through three generations without ill effects on the young. The guinea pigs safely passed three "canned generations." All the animals averaged bet-

Many Georgia High School Students Win Awards in Editorial Contest

Georgia high school students figured prominently in the preliminary list of honorary awards in the contest sponsored by American Education Press, Inc., to provide recognition and publication for the best creative work of students in American high schools.

Ethel Mae Beavers, Leonard Barrett, Emily Roberts, of Commercial High school, and Eugene Hill, of Girls' High school in Atlanta, as well as Gertrude Manly Jones, of Savannah, qualified in the Scribner's Short Story contest. Evelyn Mathieu and Francis Braselton, of Commercial High school qualified in the editorial contest. Nellie Grace Hoskins and Mary Roberts, of Girls' High, and Fred Youngblood, of Savannah, took honors in the poetry competition.

Mary Robert, of Girls' High, and Woon Jung, of Savannah, were mentioned in the book review lists.

In the Atlantic Monthly contest

Margaret Grace, of Savannah, was on the honor roll. Boys' Life awards included Boris Whitman and Alexander Ross Rommel, of Savannah. American Girl mentioned Gertrude Jones, of Savannah.

Although the final awards will not be published until May, the prize winning manuscripts will be selected from the preliminary lists, on which the Georgia contestants are widely represented. The April issue of the Magazine World, after giving much of the credit to the teachers in the high schools for the improved work displayed in the submissions this year over the 1930 manuscripts, goes on to say that the improvement covers appearance, preparation and intrinsic worth in the contest.

"The final awards will be published along with original explanations of the judges in a book entitled 'The National Awards' which will be obtainable about May 15."

Florida Teller Held In Bank Holdup Probe

SARASOTA, Fla., April 13.—(AP) Arrest of Charles Wadsworth, Jr., teller of the Palmer National bank, for complicity in robbery of the bank a week ago when $11,644 was stolen, was announced today by Sheriff Keen and William J. Burns, internationally known detective.

Mrs. Ella Depper and William Walker, her brother, were held as accessories to the robbery.

The trio was arrested three days ago, but the fact was suppressed by authorities who are still seeking a man accused of the actual robbery.

Sheriff Keen said Wadsworth had made a full confession involving others.

SIMPLE TO MAKE
YET SO PROFESSIONAL

Today's model expresses tailored chic and exceptional charm. Its clever slimming lines will instantly appeal to the larger woman.

The surplus bodice has a very smart neckline. Inverted pin tucks narrow its shoulders. The skirt gives the figure graceful height, all because of the clever placement of the kilted plaits and diagonal seaming at the front.

A thin woolen in gay small block pattern made the original. The rolled surplus collar and cuff are of white pique.

Style No. 301 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Tweed or plain jersey is very lovely for this model.

Navy blue crepe silk with white crepe, and a coin (25-cent size) silk crepe in brown and white with apaline green collar and cuffs are chic combinations.

Size 36 requires 3-3/8 yards 39-inch with 1-4 yard 35-inch contrast.

Our large Fashion Magazine shows the latest Paris styles for spring and summer for adults and children. Also instructive lessons in sewing.

Price of book 10 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin. Wrap coin carefully.

Retiring Warden Gets Watch From Convicts

McAlester, Okla., April 13.—(AP) Convicts in the Oklahoma penitentiary presented B. R. Van Dyke, retiring warden, a gold watch and $1,200 in salary refused him by the state today.

The action was voluntary, the money coming from private funds held in trust for prisoners.

Van Dyke, who surrendered the office to Sam Brown, Governor W. H. Murray's second choice for warden, served three months without pay. He was never confirmed by the senate because it was claimed he was a socialist. The state auditor refused to honor warrants for his salary.

During his brief tenure Van Dyke, a country lawyer, inaugurated a practice of removing prisoners from solitary confinement and making hard labor in the prison yard and factories the extreme punishment.

 "It is so unusual to hear anyone speak of God. It's quite startling. You mean you really think God wants me to be happy with Feodor, and that that happiness will come, that I ought to be certain that nothing will ever go wrong with our life?"

"No—no, mademoiselle; I did not say that. We cannot bargain with the good God. Sometimes things must go wrong, because of some foolishness in our lives, but we must never bargain, never blame le bon Dieu. We make mistakes, or we sin and we take our medicine, that is all. But we do not forget the joy when the sorrow comes. When we pass into the shadow we remember that the light comes afterward. That is all, too."

Toni woke the next morning and lay for a moment or two drowsily content. A short spell of delightful happenings—parties, long golden hours of sunshine, tennis, the buying of a trousseau—lay between her and her wedding day in October.

The house party separated for its various amusements, and occupations, principally, so it happened, for golf, and much to Greta's annoyance, D'Arblay, motored over from the Rochards and joined them—playing in a foursome and drawing her as a partner.

Later, too, he maneuvered that they should walk back to the chateau together, and as they drew near the gardens Greta's annoyance got the better of her tact.

"D'Arblay, what possessed you to come over this morning?" she said with sudden irritation. "I will not be made conspicuous. Why should I be? I do not want a scandal, and I will not have one."

D'Arblay looked at her curiously. "No," he said, "I suppose not, came because I wanted to see you, but I do not wish to have gossip about myself in connection with you any more than you do. How extraordinarily egotistical women are. They always see their own point of view only."

"We have to be egotistical. That's our only means of self-defense. Besides, I don't want to talk about those things. I want you to promise you won't behave as you did last night, frowning and glaring if any other man spoke to me or danced with me. You are a perfect fool, D'Arblay. I won't see you at all if this is going to happen."

He made a sudden movement toward her and caught her wrist.

"Won't you?" he said significantly. "I'll have something to say about that, Greta. You cannot play with me in that way. Besides, you need my help."

For the moment she was silent, looking down at his hands gripping her wrists.

Then: "Take your hands away, please," she said; "you'll mark my wrists. That would give people something to talk about." Then suddenly, fearing from his look that she had gone too far, she added more gently: "For heaven's sake, don't let us quarrel! I merely said you were making me conspicuous. So you are, I like you, I appreciate your kindness to me, but if you misunderstand my liking or my appreciation, there is an end of things—that's all."

"Oh, that's all, is it?" He stood for a second regarding her balefully, then before she could resist swept her into his arms. "You are making a mistake!" he said thickly; "and mistakes are costly."

As it happened, Toni, in advance of the others, was walking with Maitre Siboux, chattering to him. They were very near the outlying gardens on the south side, the woods led up almost without a break to the farther lawn, and as they came out of the little wood into the tiny green valley, Toni stopped short and gripped Maitre Siboux's arm. Not more than 30 yards away, two people stood under the shade of a chestnut tree locked in a close embrace—Greta and Henri D'Arblay.

Just for one second Toni stood perfectly still, staring ahead of her with dilated blue eyes. Then she turned to her silent and astonished companion.

"We must stop the others, Ronnie mustn't see them. Oh, quick, quick!" She pulled him sharply back, almost into the bushes.

"The brute!" she said in a choked voice. "How dare he—I knew she was being a fool, letting him be around—she didn't understand the sort of man he is. He won't let her alone. Oh, quick, come back; we must stop Ronnie; she was shaking and almost incoherent, but Siboux quieted her.

"You will go back and make an excuse to the others," he said. "I will go on and make some noise—perhaps whistle—through the woods, and let them know I am coming. Calm yourself, dear Mademoiselle Toni. She is very beautiful, and men are susceptible to beauty. It was just a moment's folly. He took her unaware, lost his head. Now listen: Do just as I tell you. Calm yourself; walk slowly back, sing, laugh, do anything. Say that I have gone on, and that anyway you waited for Feodor. Come, my little one. You are imagining too much. You are letting your nerves run away with you."

Nerves again! "Am I?" she said. "Very well, I'll wait for him again. I won't let them think anything's wrong."

Once out of sight she slackened her pace, however, and stood leaning up against a tree. After all, she had been making an absurd fuss these last few weeks about Greta and D'Arblay. She had been very much her brother's keeper.

She was probably rather ridiculous, and she tried to determine why Greta's sudden flitting about worried her so. After all, everybody flirted. For the moment she could not imagine that she would do so once married to Feodor, but Toni knew enough of her world to shrug her shoulders and realize that she might probably find some amusement in a mild flirtation.

Deliberately facing things, she believed that her beauty would probably drive D'Arblay to some act of public folly. After all, he was not quite of her world. He was known to be a man who was unscrupulous, and by reason of his great wealth, powerful. The inhibitions that would bind an egotistical man or any of the Frenchmen or Italians in her mother's set, would not bind D'Arblay. He was alone—by himself—a man of no scruples.

Greta was playing with fire, and for Ronnie's sake it should not be permitted. Yet, who was she, Toni, to stop her? And suddenly, like a lightning flash, the Toni who dreaded it came to her why the whole affair troubled her so, and got upon her nerves to such an extent. It was not Greta, it was not Ronnie; it was not D'Arblay; it was herself and Feodor. In some strange way she was certain that if anything went wrong it would involve them—that Greta's indiscretion was incomprehensibly affecting her own happiness with Feodor, her own future. It seemed to her quite suddenly that Greta's danger was her own. Why, she could not tell. The very idea was absurd; yet there it was, and she knew it to be true. In some sinister way it seemed to her that Greta's fate and her own were bound together, and so thinking, she realized that at all costs Greta must be pulled up, for nothing should interfere with her and Feodor.

Three minutes later she met the men, strolling along, smoking, talking idly and at the sight of her she saw a light in Feodor's eyes that made her careless of everything but herself and him.

But he did not speak. It was Ronnie who called out: "Hello, Toni. Have you lost Maitre Siboux?" Toni laughed. It was surprising how easy it was to act.

"Yes," she said; "I dropped him in the pond. As a matter of fact he got tired of my slow stroll and went on, sending me back to you. He is a very tactful godfather, Feodor—most tactful. You chose him very well."

Feodor laughed, made some careless rejoinder, slipped his hand within her arm, and strolled on toward the valley, and if Toni's pulses beat rather faster than usual, no one was to know but herself. She need not have feared. The little valley was empty, the gate into the garden beyond closed. They strolled across, opened the gate, went up through a plantation of oak and beech, and arrived in the garden, to find Lady Alice, Greta and one or two guests who were expected to lunch, sitting in the shade, with long drinks waiting for the thirsty golfers.

P. T. A. Conference Opens With Record Attendance

National Chairman of Parent Education and Dr. M. L. Brittain Chief Speakers at Macon.

President of the state conference, and Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology, spoke tonight. "Augusta night in Macon" was observed in a dinner at the Hotel Lanier before the opening of the evening session. The Augusta delegation was addressed by Dr. Will Jennings, mayor of Augusta.

Tomorrow's program, which will be held at the Macon auditorium, will include addresses by Judge Garland Watkins, of the juvenile court of Atlanta; Superintendent J. L. Yaxen, of the Georgia State School of Technology; and Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology, who will be the guest speaker.

The first and foremost thing in every child's life is health, Mr. Yaxen declared. "It is first and foremost that the child be well-born and well-reared. For some day there will be laws that will prevent any child from being ill-born. Not only the premature influence, but also the natal influence will have to come under legal regulation."

"Women are becoming more and more careful of how they bring their children into the world," he said. "As parents, we should not only see that our own children are well-reared, but we should be our neighbors' keepers. The child next door, the child of the slums, the child who has not a fair chance—the child who help."

Dr. Brittain also emphasized the importance of health. A good many of the problems of the child are due to his poor physical condition, he said. Dr. Brittain's subject was "The Child from One to Six," and he stressed the importance of the pre-school parent-teacher association.

The delegates arrived in Macon today by train and by automobile. The executive board meeting was held at 11 o'clock. The afternoon session formally opened at the Macon auditorium at 2:30 o'clock with the delegates repeating the "Mother's Hymn."

Most of the afternoon speakers referred to the children's charter adopted at the White House conference on "Child Health and Protection." Mrs. Hankinson, treasurer of the national and state congresses, said the parent-teacher organization has had "wonderful phenomenal backing."

Committee reports were made by Mrs. C. A. Vernon, Athens, kindergarten; Mrs. Frank C. David, Columbus, program; Mrs. Guy Wells, Statesboro, education; Mrs. Weatherbee, humane education; and Mrs. M. S. Lanier, home, extension.

Mrs. M. T. Edgerton, Atlanta, reported plans for the summer round-up, when the organization will try to correct the defects of children before they enter school.

The prepared report of the legislative committee, made public tonight, states that three bills governing child welfare have been drafted for the consideration of the Georgia children's code commission.

Dr. Brittain said in part: "Mary Shelley, a hundred years ago, gave to the world a story filled with horrors—so ugly that it has fascinated mankind for generations. It is the kind of Frankenstein and the creation of the skilled scientist. In his laboratory there was fashioned a monster, made from human limbs and members gathered from the charnel-house. The story is that the man of science at last breathed the breath of life into his horrible handiwork and brought into existence a giant monster in human form but destitute of soul. The horrible being, livid in appearance through his fearful origin, and ancestor of the mechanical robots of modern times, struck terror into the hearts of all beholders. His own creator grew to dread him, and at last came to his death through the thing which he had fashioned with his own hands and in his own laboratory."

Negro Is Pallbearer With Seven White Men

HAZZLEHURST, Ga., April 13.—(P)—A negro who was one of two men finding the body of Virgil H. Hinson almost two months after the man was drowned served as a pallbearer with seven white men at the Hinson funeral. Mr. Hinson, son of J. M. Hinson, prominent retired planter and business man of Jeff Davis county, lost his life on January 16 when the barge on which he and two negroes were riding capsized in the Timmons river, near Dorchester, Ga. The negroes also lost their lives.

Georgia Glee Club Ends Tour of State

Performance Given in Auditorium of G. S. C. W. at Milledgeville.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 13.—The University of Georgia Glee Club ended its 1931 itinerary of the state here Monday night.

Sponsored by the Georgia State College for Women, the performance was given in the school auditorium, directed by Hugh Hodgson, head of the university music department.

The performance was arranged to exemplify the "power of music." Every act was announced through a loudspeaker. The stage settings and scenery were designed by the fine arts department of the Georgia State College for Women.

The program was divided into two acts, the first of which contained a group of classical songs by the club's chorists, violin numbers by members of the orchestra, and a tenor solo by Malcolm Lockhart, of Decatur, president of the state's aggregation.

After intermission, when the other part of the program began, was a humorous skit followed by an orchestra, popular music by the jazz orchestra, and a medley of college songs which included practically all the old Georgia "airs" and the new Bulldog marching song, written by Mr. Hodgson. As a finale they sang the University of Georgia alma mater.

The personnel of the club included Fred Bunting, of Albany, Stanton Forbes, of Athens; Marion Gaston, of Macon; Quincy Gilliland, of Gilmore, of Massachusetts; Malcolm Lockhart, of Decatur; Emmet Mitchell, of Thomasville; Southward Morcock, of Savannah; Harold Williams, of Atlanta; Bowling Musgrove, of Homerville; E. Blair Proctor, of Atlanta; Dean Rader, of Athens; Joel Rice, of Hartwell; Herbert Rosenberg, of Atlanta; Cliff Sheffield, of Atlanta; Bryan Williams, of Savannah; Fred Aldrich, Brunswick; John Alford, of Decatur; Clarence Hargis, of Toccoa; Phinizy Calhoun, of Atlanta; Walter Cornett, of Athens; Charles Davis, of Americus; Jack Eiler, of Savannah; Jack Eiler, of Macon; Jack Goldberg, of Atlanta; Curtis Harper, of Jessup; Eugene Hoppenstein, of Toccoa; Jack Lane, of William Longwater, of Savannah; Ben R. Maxwell, of Cartersville; Robert McGarity, of Monroe; Lester Persels, of Athens; James T. Pittman, Jr., of Fitzgerald; Ralph Roush, of Savannah; Atwood Whittington, of Atlanta; and Lucian White, of Brunswick.

Garden Club Opens Annual Convention

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—(P)—The Garden Club of Georgia in convention here Monday adopted a resolution endorsing the Okefenokee swamp as a potential national park area.

Mrs. Joseph McK. Spear, of Augusta, called the convention to order and gave the president's address on club activities. Mrs. Clarence Anderson, of Savannah, first vice president, welcomed delegates. Response was by Mrs. Fritz Jones, of Atlanta.

Standing committee reports were made during the day and Mrs. Cooper Newton, of Griffin, reported as treasurer. The reports disclosed that the club has joined the association this year.

After a talk by James B. Copps, of Savannah, on Savannah gardens, the organization devoted its attention to social activities. The ball showed 181 delegates in attendance.

teachers who were more than eight months in arrears for their salaries. Georgia will never move forward like North Carolina until our press and political leaders care less whether our educational help in this emergency comes from the highway funds or the Western & Atlantic discounts, provided it comes. We need real educational leaders like Governor Aycock, of the old north, and hope that he will be found in young Georgia.

"We are already materially-minded, are fast becoming air-minded, and I want you, leaders of the parent-teacher work in this state, to see that Georgia becomes education-minded. This is the way by which you may most aid us—whether in the public schools or university system."

Dean of Davidson To Speak in Rome

ROME, Ga., April 13.—Dean J. Moore McConnell, professor of history at Davidson College, will be the speaker at Founder's Day April 17 at Darlington prep school.

The address of Dean McConnell will follow the annual J. W. Proctor debate which will be held Thursday night. The question of the debate is "Resolved, that the American system of trial by jury should be abolished."

William Moorhead, Goldville, N. C., and Justin Elliot, Holly Springs, Ga., will defend the affirmative side of the question while Richard Parker, Farmville, N. C., and Harvey Ross, Morelia, Mexico, will uphold the negative.

In addition to the speech of Dean McConnell on Founder's Day the Darlington athletic field and tennis courts donated to the school by J. P. Cooper will be dedicated. Founder's Day is one of the big events at Darlington and the school is thronged by visitors each year at this time.

Youth Drowns

HARTWELL, Ga., April 13.—Edward Fishburne, of Anniston, Ala., student of Presbyterian College at Clinton, S. C., visiting in Hartwell, was drowned Sunday afternoon in the Savannah river, six miles from Hartwell. The body has not been recovered. He is a son of E. B. Fishburne, of Anniston, Ala.

State Deaths And Funerals

D. WATKINS REESE. THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 13.—D. Watkins Reese, well known citizen of the town of Paris in this county, and city clerk, died in John D. Archibald Memorial hospital in Thomasville. Funeral services were held Monday.

MRS. EMMA ROBERTS. LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 13.—Mrs. Emma Roberts, 72, died in an Atlanta hospital late Monday after a long illness. Mrs. Roberts resided on a plantation two miles south of here for many years. The body was brought here Monday night. Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock eastern time Tuesday afternoon at the Rev. W. W. Cash and the Rev. J. W. Hogan officiating. She is survived by four children, C. C. Roberts, Mrs. H. H. Pratt, of Lawrenceville; Charles B. Roberts, of Macon; and P. G. Roberts, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. Helen Thompson, of Walnut Grove, and a brother, James Craig, of Zepher Springs, Ga.

Telescope To Watch Forest Fires Mounted on Warm Springs Tower

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 13.—A powerful telescope, which will be used in watching forest fires and for observation purposes by visitors who flock to Warm Springs, has been mounted on the Charles Lamar Davis memorial tower here. It was purchased in New York by Arthur E. Carpenter, business manager of the Warm Springs Foundation, with which Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who spends part of his time here, is identified.

The Meriwether County Fire Prevention Organization, first fire district, which has supervision of more than 15,000 acres of timber land, is headed by A. S. Person, president. E. L. Key, vice president, and Stuart M. Stout, secretary-treasurer. M. B. Doyle, E. L. Key, T. J. Long and Stuart M. Stout are directors.

Walter Helms, towerman for the organization, said today that 626 visitors have registered at the tower since it was dedicated several months ago. The "Wolf's Den," which is near the tower, also draws many visitors. It is a natural beauty spot at a large rocky cliff beneath which flows a stream and pool as clear as crystal.

Another interesting view is Dowdell's Knob where a natural pulpit rock is located at a high point on the Harris county side of Pine mountain. It is said that Mr. Dowdell, for whom the knob is named, preached to his slaves at this place before the Civil War.

The tower, given to Meriwether county by Miss Georgia Wilkins as a memorial to her uncle, the late Charles L. Davis, former owner of the Warm Springs property, is 76 feet high and stands at the old "View" on Pine mountain overlooking the Warm Springs Foundation property and the Meriwether Inn. It is 1,200 feet above sea level.

HOW TO DRIVE OUT RHEUMATIC PAIN

To drive out rheumatic pain from your joints and muscles you must rid your system of poison acids which cause inflammation and suffering. Prescription C-2223—the original prescription of a well-known doctor—neutralizes toxic acids in the joints and drives out poisonous waste matter from your system. Almost before you realize it those aches and pains are gone. All prescription drug stores have on hand generous size bottles of C-2223 and sell it on an absolute money-back guarantee.—(adv.)

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves. It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion from the lower bowel, the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Jacobs' Pharmacy says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your misery on motor back—44c.

AMERICAN BANKERS CONVENE IN AUGUSTA

Farm Problems Discussed by John M. Graham, of Rome.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13.—(P)—Executive session and committee meeting were held Monday at near 400 bankers gathered here for the spring meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers' Association.

There was no announcement of any action taken during the meeting, but it was understood that a study was being made of bank failures, bankruptcies and branch banking.

During a morning session of the association's executive committee John M. Graham, of Rome, Ga., announced that neither the boll weevil nor low cotton prices can break the farmer who has raised his own food and feedstuffs.

Graham discussed the problems of farming in general and Walter N. Harrison, of Lavonia, Ga., explained the agricultural program of the Georgia Bankers' Association's committee on agriculture. Mr. Graham is president of the Georgia Bankers' Association.

Sessions will be held three days, Rome C. Stephenson, of South Bend, Ind., is president of the American Bankers' Association.

Committee reports are scheduled to be made Tuesday and Wednesday, and a program for the fiscal year adopted Wednesday.

SAVANNAH BOARD ELECTS NEW MEMBER

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—(P)—Captain Frank W. Spencer was elected a member of the board of education Monday, succeeding Wilkes MacFieley, recently resigned to become a county commissioner. The new member represents labor on the board, and is also one of the leading members of the Savannah Bar Pilots' Association.

The board decided that a new school building now is out of the question, and though plans have been drawn and approved, it was voted to return guarantee checks to contractors.

Receipt of a check of $121,500 from the city as part payment of a debt of $82,500, was acknowledged. At the same time the city tendered a bill for $21,000 for paving costs. This latter item was referred to its legal counsel for advice.

Payment of $80,000 by the state during April to the public schools here completes eighty per cent of the sum due for the present fiscal year. The state still owes the board $84,000 of the appropriations of 1925 and 1929.

Fire Destroys Home

COVINGTON, Ga., April 13.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Franklin, 1000 E. Franklin street, Covington, Ga., was destroyed by fire Sunday midnight.

Three Alien Seamen Held in Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—(P)—Robert Nilson, 35, a Swedish seaman, went to the immigration office Monday in the customs house for help in getting a berth on a ship and landed in jail in consequence. Immigration authorities said he had been in this country since November, when he arrived on a ship at Tampa, Fla., and had overstayed the time limit allowed alien seamen. He is being held for deportation.

Hans Engel, about 24, a Swiss seaman, was taken into custody on Saturday. He has been a patient at the marine hospital, and is the victim of a disease which automatically excludes him from this country. Immigration officials said, however, that he is not a seaman, but an Irishman, with a family living in Liverpool, England, is also being held for a deportation hearing.

He has been in this country for the last two years, according to information obtained by the immigration unit here. All three men are in the county jail in default of bond.

INDIAN SPRINGS HOST TO 40 HOME AGENTS

INDIAN SPRINGS, Ga., April 13.—Home demonstration agents from 40 counties of the western district of Georgia assembled here Monday for a four days' session, the first meeting of the new grouping of a seven years' program.

The program of the afternoon included a group meeting for announcements, a welcoming address delivered by W. B. Powell, who also recounted the history of Indian Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford followed in leading the recreational institute, both in the afternoon and evening. Tuesday's program includes group meetings of Atlanta and Macon territory and recreational institute afternoon and evening, with tea at the Powell home, Idlewild.

Wednesday—Conference of specialists with agents from both territories; Mrs. Mize in presentation of topics of interest to entire group; Miss Collier, 4-H Club work; recreational institute; Thursday—Dr. Harvey, landscaping; Quimby Melton, Griffin, "Publicity for Home Demonstration Work Through Newspapers"; J. L. Anderson, marketing; J. Phil Campbell, extension work; W. B. Powell, types and arrangement exhibits for 4-H Club department at fairs; Mr. Leah Aschman, research problems. Recreational institute.

The sessions are being held at Hotel Elder, headquarters of the conference, and demonstration work and recreational appliances shown at Casino of the state property.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR ERNEST M. SMITH

Former Georgia Legislator and Lawyer Laid to Rest in McDonough.

McDONOUGH, Ga., April 13.—Last rites for Ernest Marvin Smith, of McDonough, were held from the residence this afternoon. Mr. Smith was born in Monroe county in 1874 and was a member of a well-known family of that section of Georgia. He was educated in the public schools of Forsyth and later attended Emory College at Oxford. He studied law in 1894 and was admitted to the bar there in 1894.

In 1897 he located in McDonough and continued the practice of this profession. He was prominent in political and civic circles and held a number of positions of importance. In 1900 he was elected representative from Henry county in the general assembly and served in this capacity for several years. He was a state senator when Henry county belonged to the 34th district, 1915-1916, and later represented this county when the district was changed to the 35th in 1923.

He was mayor of McDonough for 15 years, seven of which were consecutive terms, and a member of the city council for a number of years. For six years he was solicitor of the county court. He, at the time of his death, was city and county attorney, and was local counsel for the Georgia Power Company, the Southern railway and the Central of Georgia. He was president of the Flint Circuit Bar Association in 1929-1930, and had been a member of the county and the sixth district democratic executive committees for a number of years.

Mr. Smith was taken seriously ill early Saturday evening and, although his condition at one time showed improvement, the end came late Sunday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Flora T. Smith, one daughter, Miss Louise Smith, of Atlanta; one son, E. M. Smith, Jr., of the University of Georgia; three brothers, Olin Smith, of Macon, Will Smith, of Forsyth, Lee Smith, of Jackson; one sister, Mrs. E. P. Hunt, of College Park, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Horace S. Smith, of Decatur, and the Rev. G. W. Hamilton, pastor of the local Methodist church. Members of the Flint Circuit Bar Association and members of the local bar served as an honorary escort. Pall bearers were H. C. Hightower, D. J. Arnold, W. W. Turner, J. T. Wrens, J. G. Pullin, George C. Alexander, H. W. Dickerson and C. B. Golsan. Interment was in the city cemetery.

NOW A 3 YEAR GUARANTEE

and Lower Prices

AMILLION homes now reliably served by General Electric Refrigeration—a million reports of brilliant low-cost performance by the refrigerator with the Monitor Top.

Out of the enthusiastic approval of these owners comes the new 3-Year Guarantee on the General Electric Refrigerator—a written promise that you will have no service expense for three full years.

This protection is simply a plus value which General Electric now includes with a multitude of other advantages—at new low prices! You obtain new sliding shelves—new finger-tip door latches—extra-spacious food compartments, three zones of cold and an accessible fast-freezing dial. All-Steel cabinets are lined with vitreous porcelain that resists fruit acids. Low operating cost, of course, is inherent in the simple sealed-in-steel mechanism of the Monitor Top.

Come to our display rooms and let us help you select a model suitable for your family and home.

Pimples Disfigured Face Very Badly. Healed by Cuticura.

"Pimples were scattered all over my face and disfigured it very badly. They were hard, large and red and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned, causing me to lose lots of sleep. The trouble lasted about two years."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and in about two months I was completely healed, after using two cakes of Cuticura and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Eva Anderson, Rt. 5, Bowdon, Ga., June 6, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

TARZAN, LORD OF THE JUNGLE No. 56

Several days the Sheikh waited in vain for the promised coming of the Galla guides. Again he sent Fejwan to urge them to hasten, for Sheikh Ibn Jad feared Tarzan would arrive and foil all efforts to enter the Valley of the Spaulcher and punish him besides, for his slave raiding in the ape-man's country. Within the Sheikh's muklat sat his chief men discussing this matter.

By Bill Key, Radio Reporter.

GOOD MORNING, EVERYBODY!
If radio offerings were as diversified and as promising every day as they are today, all one would have to do would be to switch from one chain outlet to the other, dividing listening time between each of our two local stations. After scanning the programs of WGST and WSB, one finds today that there is little to be desired that isn't covered.

Columbia Broadcasting Company, particularly, is doing itself proud today in real "big time" style. Not only is this national chain bringing in full details of the opening game between Washington and Philadelphia, inaugurating the American league baseball season, but it is carrying both addresses to be made by President Hoover, chances are, however, Atlanta will hear only one of those speeches, because WGST is not carrying that to be delivered this morning before the annual convention of the American Red Cross.

AND WHILE CBS devotes its major attention to current events, National Broadcasting Company, through WSB, will bring to us a real "big time" style. Not only is this national chain bringing in full details of the opening game between Washington and Philadelphia, inaugurating the American league baseball season, but it is carrying both addresses to be made by President Hoover, chances are, however, Atlanta will hear only one of those speeches, because WGST is not carrying that to be delivered this morning before the annual convention of the American Red Cross.

In this valuable program Osbourne McConathy, noted music educator, and Pierre V. R. Key (no relation, I think), known to

But, to get back to baseball. Ted Husing, CBS sports announcer, will give a play-by-play account of the game between Washington and Philadelphia. He will, however, Atlanta will hear only one of those speeches, because WGST is not carrying that to be delivered this morning before the annual convention of the American Red Cross.

Be Entertained TODAY!
